DR. STUART C. DESKINS

"His teaching consists not so much in imparting knowledge as in stimulating the pupil in its love and pursuit."

A sincere smile, a cordial handshake, a sympathetic ear combine to create a personality who has endeared himself to both faculty and students. He makes a student feel immediately at ease in his classroom, in his office, or on a chance meeting in the hall. He has an unusual ability to inspire young people to live up to their potentialities and to become honest, useful citizens; through his confidence in them, he challenges each person to be his best self. All these qualities are exemplified in his own life.

For his friendship, for his service above and beyond the call of duty, and for all his contributions to our college, we gratefully dedicate this, our 1957 ZENITH, to Dr. Stuart C. Deskins.

This is Your Book, Students . . .

This is your Book, Students. . . . How did THE 1957 ZENITH begin? It began last spring with the election of four staff members. One morning, a few days after the election, the editor suddenly realized that she was editor, and in desperation she rushed to the library to check out every book and magazine which even remotely concerned itself with collegiate publications. From that point on, this book took precedence over all extra-curricular activities and studies. Spring planning for work began. The editor started doodling possible page layouts in class, pondering over various themes, collecting information from the 1956 editor, and frantically ordering Kyle to take pictures of anything and everything in sight. Realizing the inadequacy of the ZENITH Office as a true workshop, the business manager and the editor neglected to study for examinations in order to sell pictures for revenue to be used in redecorating their part of the tower. Correspondence and several trips from Lynchburg to High Point rounded out the summer labor of the editor. By September, "our baby" was already the center of attention; and page by page, picture by picture, and sentence by sentence it grew.

The over-all blueprint of the book is expressed in our theme, "Live A Year With Us. . . ." We have attempted to put a fresh approach into a traditional theme for yearbooks. This theme, we feel, is appropriate because it easily leads into a reflection of the atmosphere and spirit of High Point College. With you, the students, in mind, we have carefully planned the layout, the photography, the copy, and the art work. The pictures as a whole tell our 1956-57 story rather than merely show our faces. We have emphasized this feature for the purpose of portraying you as you really are, thus painting a true picture of life at High Point College for the outsider, and creating a living echo of this year's events for your enjoyment in future years. An informal style was selected for the printed material with the hope that the student will read the annual as well as look at it. The architectural theme of the art work on the division pages symbolizes the physical aspect of our college through which we are introduced into each of the actual living and breathing phases of our school. To reflect memorable moments—such is our ambition as we present this volume of the ZENITH.

Producing a book is one of the most thrilling and agonizing projects one can encounter—the thrill of creating, and the agony of never actually reaching the dreams of what it should be. We, the staff, have experienced many emotions between these two, but all in all it has been a wonderful year of planning, working, crying, and laughing together. We have learned to love each other and to understand each other in a way which could never be reproduced anywhere except in the last little room on the right in the tower—the ZENITH Office—a room overcrowded and cluttered with papers, pictures, books, and layouts.

Qualities and attributes of many kinds were expressed in the work of each staff member. Loyalty—that is Pansy scheduling picture appointments, always doing more than her share, never complaining about working night after night in the tower, and giving encouragement to other staff members. Faithfulness—that is Betty writing copy, always willing to lend a helping hand in every phase of the work, never tiring in her efforts to give us the best reading material, and forever unregretfully writing for those who failed to meet deadlines. Constancy—that is Pat selling advertisements, sending letters, collecting money, writing bills, and smiling through it all. Efficiency—that is Kyle taking pictures, suggesting arrangements, helping with layout, and never ceasing to be creative in his ideas. To Louise, Bob, Mell, Fred, Murphy, Barbara, Bill, Ruby, "Bobo," Harold, Braxton, Jo, Wilbur, Jack, and everyone of the co-operative staff workers, go the highest laurels and deepest gratitude. To our advisors, Miss Idol and Dr. Robinson, without whom we could not have printed the book, we say "thank you" for your encouragement, advice, and most of all for your confidence in us.

And to you, the students, we owe much. We have benefited by your suggestions in arrangement of material, have used your new ideas for additions to the book, and have given you a vote in making the big decisions. You have voiced your opinions both complimentary and uncomplimentary throughout the year, and for that, we thank you. You have lived the pages of this book, and realizing that you are the only real critics, we, holding our breaths and with sincere humility, present to you the 1957 edition of the ZENITH.

I Spent a Day at

With heads adorned in hair curlers and with eyelids heavy from lack of sleep, co-eds begin the day polishing faces with cold water.

Bacon and eggs reward the student who can get to breakfast and stay awake throughout the "long line."

At eight o'clock morning devotions, Lindley Chapel is a spot for starting the day right—whether the meditation is student or faculty inspired.

The sickest feeling on earth is to awaken to the first chimes of the day—a fatal warning that the 8:20 class has become a "tardy 8:30."

I didn't find it hard to climb out of bed that morning! I washed my face and dressed hurriedly, eagerly imploring my sleepy roommate to "hurry up." I was an excited high school senior, spending the day with a friend at High Point College, which stood high on my list of prospective schools. Before long I was pushing my tray along the rail in breakfast line, almost frightened at being confronted by so many strange faces at once, until I discovered that every face had a welcoming, if somewhat sleepy, smile for me.

After breakfast my friend and I climbed the steps to Lindley Chapel for the daily morning worship service. A spirit of reverence and dedication filled the sun-lit Chapel. One of the college boys led a brief, earnest devotional. The students rose to sing, their vibrant voices uniting in a worshipful hymn.

With the clang of a bell the scene changed, as everyone scurried to 8:20 classes. Thronging the hall were laughing co-eds in sweaters and skirts, boys discussing the intramural football games, freshmen with their despised purple-and-white beanies atop their heads, and professors clutching briefcases as they hastened by. Everywhere I met the infectious friendliness which I was fast learning to identify as a High Point College trademark. Later in the morning we stopped at the bookstore and forged our way through the crowded, smoke-filled room to buy a cup of hot coffee and a Blue Book. The booths were filled with chattering guys and co-eds sipping cokes between classes, and from the back of the room a jukebox blared "Love Me Tender." Suddenly there was a mad scramble for the door. The mail was up! I was swept along with the crowd until I found myself in the post office where eager students were opening their boxes, hoping to find letters from boy friends, girl friends, and parents.

By lunch time we were more than ready to relax and enjoy a warm meal. Each of us bowed our heads for a moment of silent grace before we burst into conversation. Enjoying the fellowship of lunching together, listening to new friends discuss the freshman party, the bill the Student Government had passed, or tomorrow's chapel program, I felt myself a part of High Point College.

Elbowed and jostled, herded like cattle, we swarm to the post office on chapel days. This is the happiest or most disheartening part of the morning—the letter or the dust-filled mail box.

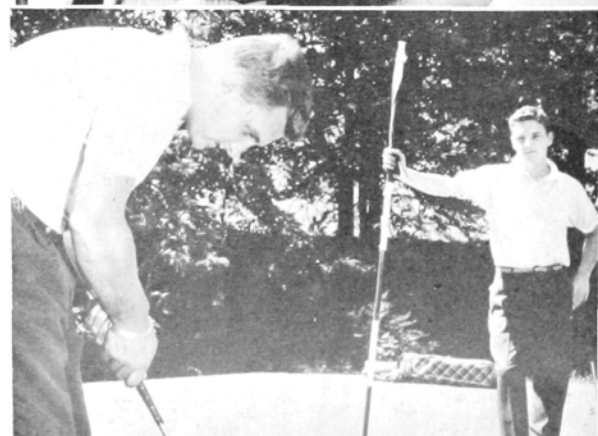

Lunch—a time for discussing pop quizzes, seeing your best girl or guy, or trying to get your money's worth and still make the 1:30 class.

Eager pre-meds and reluctant freshmen climb the steep hill to the science building and for an afternoon are transformed into chemists and biologists.

Out of class, and the day is young! We golf, play tennis, see an afternoon movie, catch up on sleep . . . Freedom is felt and expressed.

. . . And Then I Knew

From six o'clock on, students leisurely come and go to the small chapel on second floor to enjoy self-directed meditation—a welcomed interlude between the rush and hurry of college life.

The after-supper campus walk, whether with a sweetheart or a best friend, is a time for silence and reminiscing as the sunset and tower chimes perfect each other.

From six to seven, some of us are singing around the piano—most of us are playing cards—a few of us are playing ping-pong in the student center.

In the library, we spend hours every evening, looking for books, staring into space, writing research papers, thumbing through magazines, whispering to friends, studying assignments.

After lunch we climbed the hill to the laboratory, where students peering into their microscopes were already seated at long tables. They exchanged laughing and groaning comments as they worked, taking time out now and then for a coke or a smoke.

Seeking recreation after a long day of classes, the kids scattered, some to a movie, some to the tennis courts or student center, some to a bench under a tree with that special guy or gal. We played a few holes of golf in the late afternoon breeze, then trooped back to supper, tired, but refreshed from this pleasant pastime. After supper we again climbed the steps to the Chapel. Students sat about the darkened room in silent prayer and meditation, bringing here the problems and decisions which face all young people who have achieved the freedom and responsibilities of college students. I realized that the little Chapel was the very heart of High Point College life. The chimes were playing a familiar hymn as we walked out to the fountain in the fast falling dusk. Gazing back over the broad green lawn, we saw the tower etched against the sky.

. . . I Would

LIVE A YEAR!

Before my friends settled down to study, we dropped into the student center where laughing guys and co-eds were playing together with the gay camaraderie and friendliness which distinguishes college life. A group in one corner was gathered around a card table. Someone was playing the piano, and two sophomores were trying out a new dance step. We played a fast game of ping-pong, and then, refreshed by the exercise, we gathered our books, and ambled to the library. My friends settled down to study in its quiet atmosphere while I read the funnies and wandered around, becoming acquainted with the wide variety of reading matter.

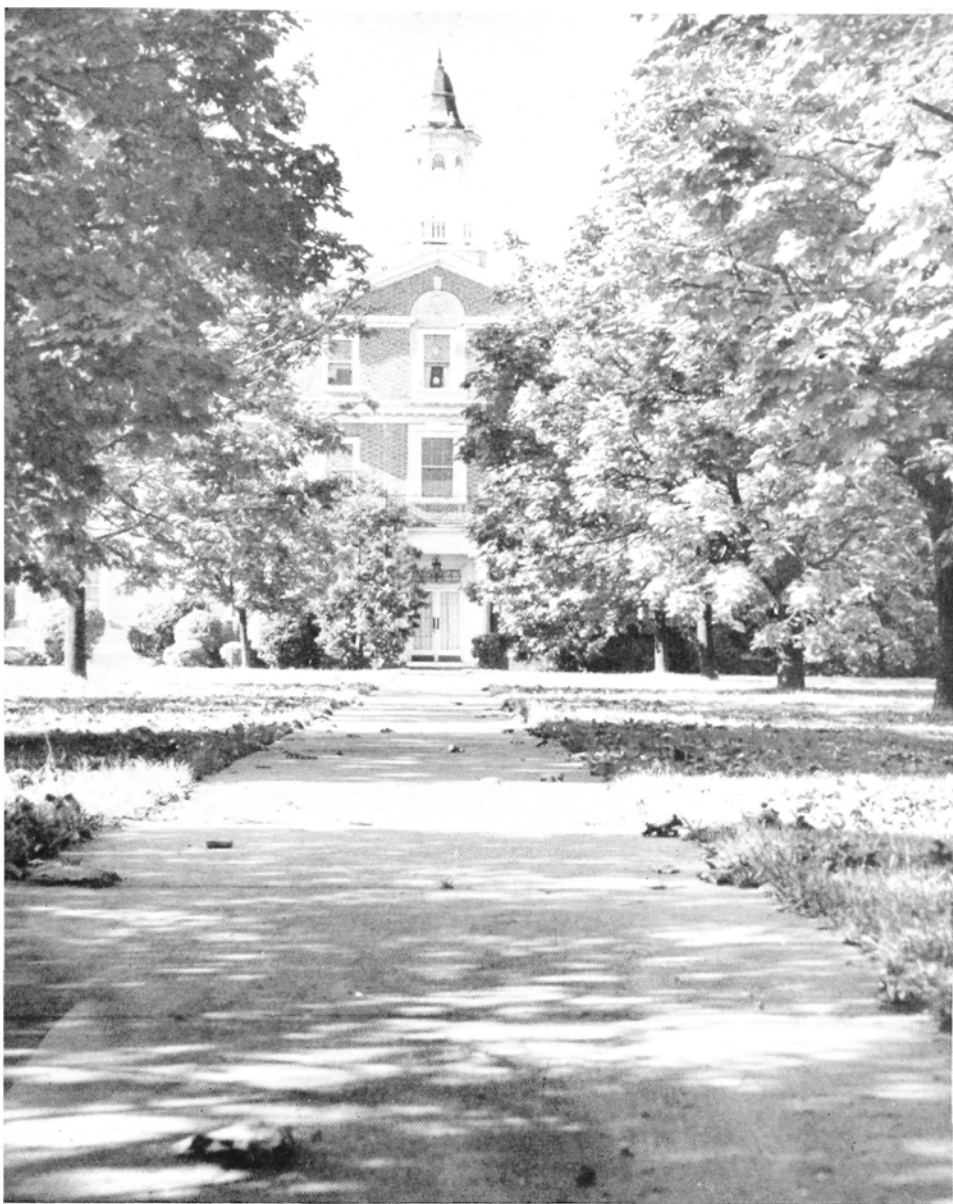

After library hours, a gang of us gathered in a room down the hall to drink cokes, nibble potato chips, and to discuss until the late hours the major topics of life—the opposite sex, that dreadful history assignment, the movie at the Center. . . . Tumbling into bed, I was not too sleepy to murmur a fervent prayer of thanks because I knew that this was not just the end of a pleasant day, but the first of many more happy days at High Point College.

9:15—and couples meet in the book store to dance and play bridge; girls get cherry peeps, square nabs, and note-book paper to carry back to roommates; boys stand around and watch girls. It's the shortest half hour of the day!

We are philosophers, politicians, psychiatrists! We discuss professors, problems, the opposite sex! We—the experts in everything in our nightly “bull sessions.”

Autumnal leaves

Magnificent Autumn! The leaves are falling, their work is done. Their splendid colors are fading as we meet acquaintances and our classes begin.

Unpredictable rain

Dashing in big drops on the walks, forming gentle mists on the panes, how temperamental is the rain! Whether it be friendly or foul, we make our way toward the beckoning bells.

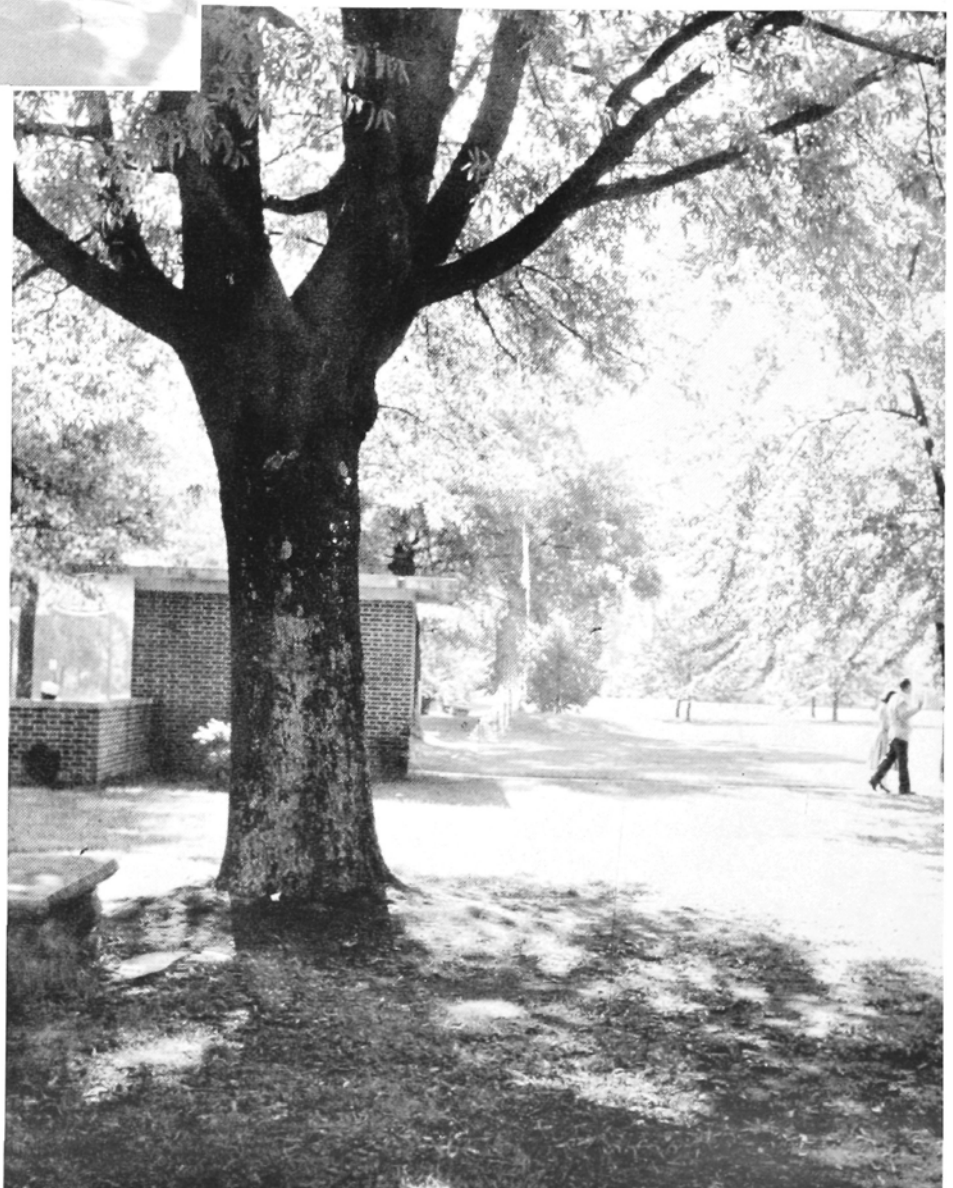

The Winter's Snow

Long hoped for, a blanket of snow covers our campus! We cut classes—some of us to romp and gallop with joy—some of us to stand in silent tribute to this marvelous miracle of nature.

Sweet Spring

Daughter of a stormy sire, winter's lovely child is presented to us in all her blossoming glory! Our eyes cannot remain on the professor; the window offers too much competition for attention.

May arrives

The temperature of early summer is not equal to the warmth of friendly goodbyes — goodbye to our friends who gave us encouragement and to our teachers who gave us inspiration and opened our minds.

And as we leave

Our last impression — the stately columns of Roberts Hall. They stand as a symbol—a bulwark against ignorance and prejudice. We follow these pillars up to the tower whose spire is a finger pointed to heaven.

Meet Our President . . .

DR. DENNIS H. COOKE

I noticed him first with a pencil and a blueprint in his hand. Under his leadership the college has taken giant strides forward in both the building program and the academic progress, and outlined within his mind are numerous plans for the continued growth of this college. To stimulate the love of learning, to cultivate the ability and disposition for creative thinking, and to instill in the students a deep appreciation for their educational opportunities have been a few of his goals. With this abiding faith in the students, faculty, and staff we are confident that these many plans of our able president, Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, will unfold to an even greater High Point College.

. . . and Our Deans

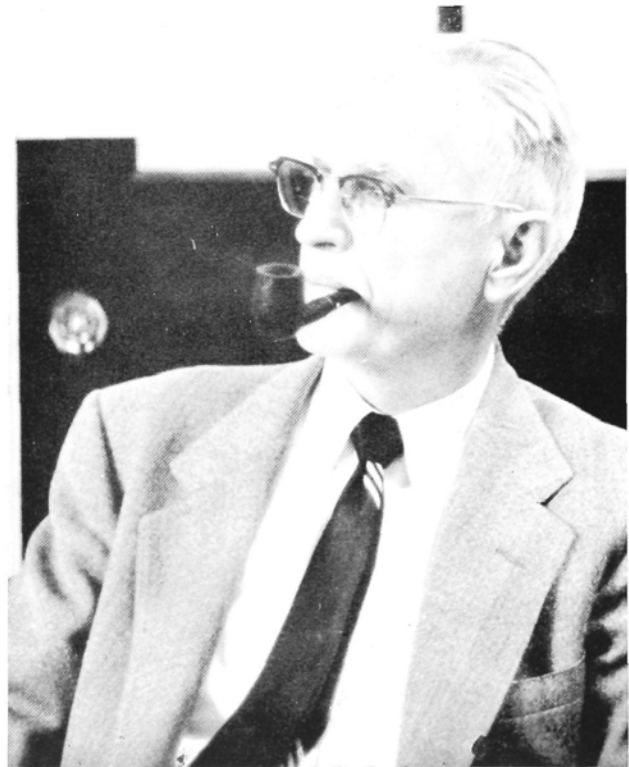

DEAN CONRAD

I met him first when I was greatly disturbed about my grades. He asked me to come into his office for a visit. As Dean of Instruction, the welfare of each student at High Point College is his foremost concern. His office is opened six days a week to students seeking answers to various academic problems. Insight and appreciation of values enable Dean Conrad to endeavor steadily for improvement of the old and for discovery of the new in fields of academic growth.

DEAN ALLRED

I saw him for the first time as I walked into Roberts Hall when High Point College was new to me. He looked up from his desk. I noticed his neat appearance, his attractive smile, and his warm personality. I had a long chat with him, and he told me of his various jobs. To all the students Dean Allred is indeed a man of varied interests—a Spanish teacher, a counselor, a sympathetic friend, and a man whom we have grown to admire and to respect throughout our college days.

Introducing Our

Both colorful and dignified, the academic procession never ceases to fill our hearts with pride. The freshman sees the color—red, gold, purple, and especially Dr. Smyth's "blue." The senior feels the dignity as he marches behind; and a few even aspire for a gold tassel someday.

Leaving Dr. Muldrow's office where she and I had been tussling vigorously with the intricacies of French conjugation for the last hour, I thanked her for her patient assistance. "Come up any time," she told me, complimenting me on a recent article I'd done for the Hi-Po. Going down the stairs, I thought warmly of my teachers who prodded, scolded, encouraged, and commended me. I realized suddenly and gratefully how close the relationship was between faculty and students at High Point College and how much our teachers have enriched our lives. I knew that among the more vivid and delightful memories we would carry from High Point College would be those in which our teachers figured.

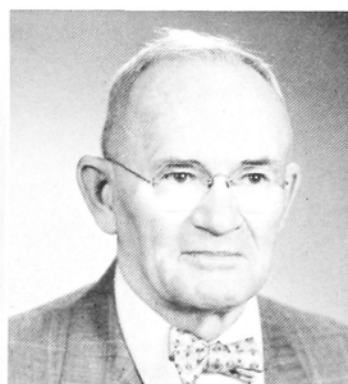

There were mornings when we snoozed through our classes, but there were days when it seemed that our teachers held up before our eyes a glass through which, in a moment of rare insight, we saw some phase of life more clearly. We laughed at our teachers' little idiosyncrasies, but we quoted them to our friends, and praised our favorites warmly to the new freshmen. We fussed about Dr. Bartlett's parallel, but we listened fascinated as she spread the panorama of history before us. We worked in various organizations, and when we hit a snag we went to our faculty advisors. We watched Miss DeSpain, paint brush in hand, working on the sets for "Harvey," and Mr. Cox on choir tour having more fun than any of the kids. We went to Dean Conrad and our major teachers for help in arranging our schedules. We stood in assembly and listened as Dr. Rozelle's deep and gentle voice led us in prayer. And we knew that the guidance and inspiration offered to us by these best friends of ours would become a part of the fibre of our lives.

We're from High Point—couldn't be prouder! If you can't hear us now, we'll yell a little louder!"—Who could forget the Lambda Chi-Faculty Clown Basketball game last fall! And especially Mrs. Marge Case, Mr. Cox, and Miss DeSpain, who changed roles from director of religious activities, choir director, and dramatic instructor to the most energetic and vociferous cheerleaders we've ever seen.

Academic Standards Advance

Fine Arts Department offers new Art Division under the direction of Mr. Raiford Porter.

A major in sociology or history and social sciences is offered for the first time at HPC.

Requirements for the Dean's List change to 2.5, and honor points for graduation are raised.

Students learn by listening in the new modern language laboratory, supervised by Dr. Muldrow.

Scholastic Requirements Change

Acting with the knowledge that out of something good can come something great, our faculty this year made several changes in academic requirements and courses of study. Long before registration day and the actual start of classes, the faculty officials spent many hours in the formulation of the new general academic agenda for the student body.

A Department of Fine Arts has been streamlined under the capable direction of Dr. Lew J. Lewis. A new Art Division has been added to the department. It is now possible for a student to gain a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Applied Music or in Music Education. In addition, it is now possible for a student to graduate with a major in sociology.

This year, in order to graduate with laurels for scholastic leadership, the student must have a ratio of one semester hour to 2.5 honor points for Cum Laude, a ratio of one semester hour to 2.75 honor points for Magna Cum Laude, and a ratio of one to 2.85 for Summa Cum Laude. In order to qualify for the Dean's List, a student must have a ratio of one semester hour to 2.5 honor points.

To stimulate the love of learning, and to recognize and encourage scholarship, the Scholastic Honor Society was inaugurated this year. For election as a junior, the candidate must have completed 75 semester hours of regular college work with a quality point ratio of 2.75. The minimum ratio for election as a senior is 2.25. These are the same scholastic standards required for Phi Beta Kappa.

These new additions and raised academic requirements were inaugurated to inspire the student to do thorough, academic work of high quality and to maintain high scholastic standards; to cultivate the ability and disposition for creative thinking in the American tradition of individual freedom; and to instill in the student a deeper pride for our motto: "A Christian College for Discriminating Students."

Class of 1957

At last a goal reached . . . a dream come true . . . four years of studying and socializing coming to a close . . . cherished memories of lasting friendships and experiences . . . we realized that now we were seniors.

The last chance to help with orientation . . . new people to meet . . . that last Christmas Dance . . . our Junior-Senior Prom . . . socials were nice, but studying could not be avoided as the year was rapidly passing. As the second semester began, we realized that it was the last registration . . . standing in line . . . wondering if the classes were filled . . . checking hours and quality points . . . receiving notes from the Dean . . . noticing our "cuts" in classes . . . becoming aware of our past mistakes . . . so much was passing through our minds that day. We found it difficult to wade through labs, tests, term papers, and exams . . . had we selected the right major? . . . was it too late now? . . . could we get a good job after graduation? . . . would we be successful? . . . these questions and many more were puzzling us as we glanced back over the past.

Things began to settle down, but suddenly a noise was heard . . . a music major just practicing that final lesson . . . an original arrangement . . . or a new era in music . . . a conversation being corrected by a future English teacher . . . agreement of the subject and verb . . . then a history teacher just dropped in to see if he could be the first to write the story of the class . . . it is too big and undertaking . . . you need not try.

Time was drawing near . . . wearing of the cap and gown . . . hearing the last lecture . . . leaving the final class . . . completing the assigned exam . . . realizing that most things were over . . . the "line of march" . . . the diploma . . . but still confident that the cherished memories of High Point College would linger forever.

Seniors Study,

Graduation Day—and we—the graduates! Outside Memorial Auditorium, we wait with feelings of pride, nostalgia, and anticipation for the future. Our minds begin to wander—"our first day at H.P.C." . . . "friends we are leaving" . . . "heading for the beach in a few hours" . . . "our last summer vacation" . . . "not coming back next year" . . . But we must quickly adjust the robes and straighten the mortar boards. Already, we can hear strains of music from the organ. Today, we must think of only one thing! Today, we graduate.

OFFICERS

Jack Young, Treasurer, with graduation gown in hand, waits his turn in line in second floor clubroom of Woman's Hall as Vice-President, Don Kearns watches while Mary Ruth Smiley, Secretary, helps President Johnny Mann arrange his mortar board.

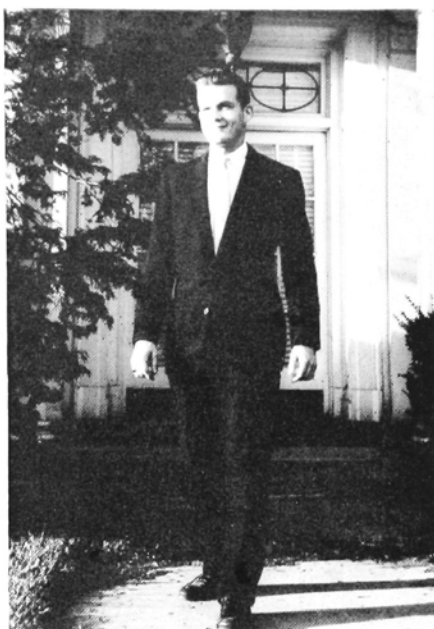

Reminisce, Graduate—

January—As he studiously bent over his book, Archie Glenn found no time to smile for the camera. Our photographer caught a "typical senior studying exams!"

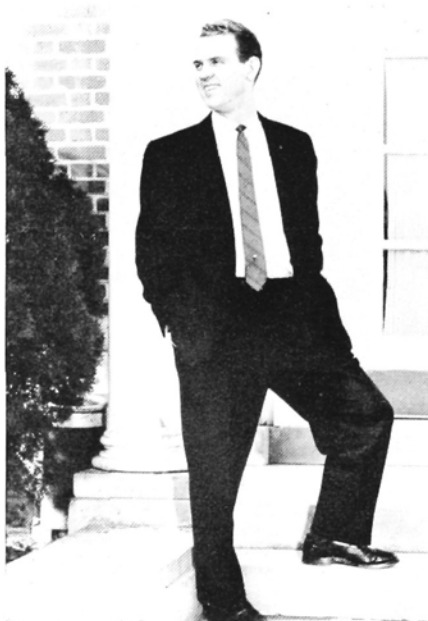

Down at the bookstore, Jackie Hoover, Stan Baker, and Anne Kerr helped Jack Young select a record—a pastime for seniors without nickels. Jack seemed surprised with the results.

Johnny Abernethy, from Raleigh, is president of the Tower Players, was treasurer of the 55-56 Student Government, and is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

Who's in American

President of Alpha Delta Theta, a member of the Student Legislature, Tower Players, and former Junior Marshal is Christine Barber. "Chris" is from Statesville and is a Lambda Alpha Phi sister.

Stanley Baker leads the day students as their president, was president of the Junior Class, and is a Sigma Phi Epsilon brother. Stan moved to High Point his sophomore year.

President of the Student Government Association, Ernie Ball, is from Mooresville, also president of Lambda Chi Fraternity, and former president of the Veteran's Club.

Who

Colleges and Universities

A native of Kings Mountain, Bobbie Barrett is president of Woman's Hall, a member and past officer of the choir, was a Junior Marshal, and is a sister in Lambda Alpha Phi sorority.

Jahala Eudy, a sister in Alpha Gamma Delta Fraternity, from Charlotte, is secretary of the Student Christian Council. She is assistant to the registrar and is a member of the choir.

President of Phi Mu Fraternity is Jackie Hoover from Greensboro. She was attendant in the May Court and is a member of the Future Teachers of America.

Sylvia Fox, secretary of the Student Government Association, from Charlotte, is president of Kappa Delta Sorority and is a member of the Order of the Lighted Lamp. She is also assistant director in the choir.

Who's in American

Wilbur Jarrett, an English major, is a dean's list student and is the pastor of Charlotte Methodist, Browers, and Giles Chapel churches. Wilbur is from Asheboro.

A brother in Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity is Craig Kester from High Point. Craig is a member of the Judiciary Council and came to us from East Carolina College.

Voncyte Linthicum, from Randleman, is president of the Student Christian Council. She was secretary of her class her junior year and president of the Methodist Student Fellowship.

Delbert Kirkman, president of Theta Chi Fraternity, from Greensboro, is a member of the Judiciary Council. He was on the McCulloch Hall Council and was a Junior Marshal.

Who

Colleges and Universities

Mary Ruth Smiley, editor of the ZENITH, secretary of the Senior Class, and a member of The Order of the Lighted Lamp, is in Alpha Gamma Delta Fraternity and is from Lynchburg, Virginia.

Garland Young, from Charlotte, was Chief Junior Marshal. A member of the Student Legislature and Student Christian Council, Garland is in Kappa Chi Fraternity.

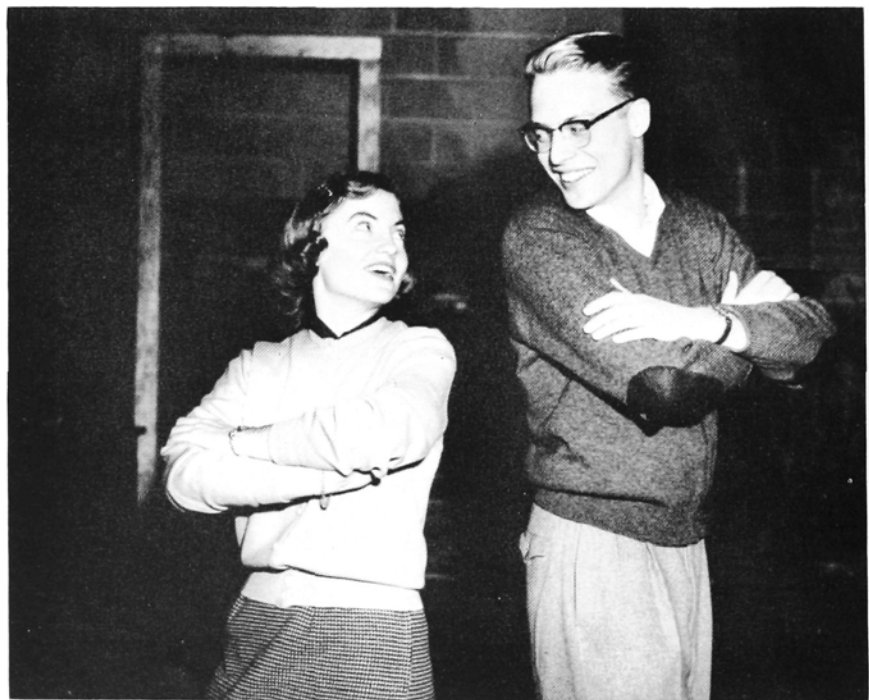

Outstanding basketball player from Greensboro is Paul Stanton, a brother in Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. Paul plays on the tennis team and is on the golf team.

Laurels and

Don Kearns, Bob Duncan, and Johnny Abernethy stop by the phone room to call for dates. They're soon off for a Saturday night fraternity party.

Voncyle Linthicum and Garland Young, "Mary and Jabez Stone," practice their "Dosey-Do" step in the square dance scene for the one-act play, "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

January 25—New Students Enroll

It is January 25, and a new semester has begun. Second semester students, Dennis H. Redding, Dalas S. Ring, James Donald Phillips, James Richard Lester, Arnold Lane, Carolyn Calloway, and Sarah Pugh pause in front of Robert's Hall to discuss class schedules, new teachers, and plans for the semester.

Order of the Lighted Lamp

On Wednesday, February 13, ten of us were inducted into The Order of the Lighted Lamp. From the beginning of the stately procession of white and black robes, I realized the dignity of the occasion. Then came the Tapping Ceremony. Never before has such a light tap upon my shoulder meant so much to me! As I sat listening to Dr. Hinshaw tell of the high requirements of the Order, I found myself wondering what I was doing on the stage. A member must have had a B average for five consecutive semesters, be of unquestionable character, and must have given outstanding evidences of leadership and service to the college. As Dr. Kenneth Goodson spoke, I sensed over the entire audience a high esteem for his words and for his life which personifies the ideals of the Order. Each year his address inspires us, but it meant even more to ten of us that morning.

Scholarship, Character, Leadership, Service—these, our high ideals, will remain a part of our lives far past college days, for in gaining this high honor, we take on the great responsibility of living up to all for which the Order of the Lighted Lamp has stood throughout the years.

Stately Procession of members and assembly speakers add dignity to Tapping Service.

Junior Marshals

No junior marshal will ever forget the day he hurried to the post office, hoping he would not be faced with an empty box, and found an official looking letter informing him that he had been chosen a marshal by the faculty. Each year the marshals are chosen on the basis of their scholastic attainments, leadership, and participation in college activities. As a marshal he will usher for community concerts, check assembly attendance, lead the senior procession, and usher at graduation. Fourteen members of the Junior Class were elected as marshals.

Class of 1958

It was with a feeling of accomplishment that we came back to college in September . . . reaching the half way mark of our college career . . . selecting a major . . . finding time to help the freshmen . . . meeting new transfer students . . . this year was to be the best one. We talked importantly about many interesting things . . . majors in primary education, English, biology, religion . . . Time was fleeting . . . Christmas holidays were near . . . term papers were due . . . pre-registration had begun . . . the days were filled with many delightful experiences.

Finally second semester came . . . bothered and bewildered . . . the usual amount of confusion, despair, and even more . . . impatience played its part in the final registration . . . schedules had to fit the new system for student teaching. The weeks passed and spring blossomed forth with all its glory . . . wearing of the college ring . . . noticing the diamonds and fraternity pins . . . glancing at the new couples . . . planning the Junior-Senior Prom . . . looking forward to the Spring Dance . . . it was all a sign of spring. It was also the time of year when we became more aware of the spiritual atmosphere on the campus . . . the evening vespers . . . the prayer meetings . . . the morning devotions . . . they added so much to our lives.

Ever mindful of next year which would bring added responsibilities . . . election of officers . . . class of '58 . . . we waved farewell to the seniors and knew that we would soon follow in their footsteps.

Juniors Plan Prom,

OFFICERS

Barbara Wilson, Secretary, shows her High Point College class ring to Vice-President, Phil Crockett, and President, Murphy Osborne, as Harry Gray, Treasurer, waits to take their order for a ring.

Campaign, Dream—

Donny Murray helps his date, Pat Beam, into the car as they anticipate an unforgettable evening at the Junior-Senior.

An exciting "high point" of every year is spring campaigning for SGA officers. Juniors came in large numbers to support their favorite candidates.

Professors assigned more research papers, and many juniors became fully acquainted with the magazine and volume section in the basement of the library.

Foreign Language Laboratory

Dr. Frances Muldrow looks over the shoulder of W. O. White as he and Ronald Black, Charles Davis, Barbara Garland, Benny Copple, and Gray Brewer, Jr., learn by listening—the main principle in the language lab. Bobby Owens, one of the assistants, looks on. By means of tape recording, students gain valuable experience in listening to French, Spanish, and German.

The project is in its pioneer stage at High Point College. At present only listening is practiced in the primary and intermediate language sections. However, students majoring in language make their own recordings, and these give aid in correcting pronunciation and sentence structure. The laboratory material is integrated with the work in the classroom.

All students have a 25-minute period twice a week, and by means of individual head sets they hear recordings made by faculty members and natives. Four student assistants, Pansy Livengood, J. L. Peterson, Bobby Owens, and Wini Stuart change the tape and operate the recorders.

The tower rising against the sky as we enter the gate, bringing back pleasant recollections of past days, beckoning with all the promise of the new year . . . co-eds hugging each other . . . boys slapping each other on the shoulder . . . feeling it good to be back with friends who have shared both our silliest and our most philosophical moments . . . helping to straighten out schedules for freshmen just as green as we were once . . . carrying in their luggage . . . helping them get settled . . . lending a sympathetic shoulder to those with the "homesick blues" . . . feeling a thrill of pride when a new student says, "High Point College?—I love it!"

Soon in the swing of things again . . . working hard on stage scenery for Harvey . . . racing around campus to get all the facts for a last minute Hi-Po story . . . attending Fall Forum sessions . . . yelling ourselves hoarse as Shrimp leads us in cheers at a basketball game . . . enjoying concerts in the auditorium and Sunday evening walks before vespers . . . getting ready for a big evening with a very special person . . . watching for the Montlieu bus after an afternoon movie down town. . . .

Studying, too . . . deciphering Chaucer . . . discovering, somewhat to our surprise, that we really enjoy that Shakespeare play . . . practicing a pantomime for speech class . . . reading history parallel . . . studying general psychology and psychoanalyzing our friends in those midnight gab sessions. . . .

Stopping sometimes in the hustle of college life . . . in a quiet moment realizing that we are gathering into our lives memories we shall cherish, friendships we shall value through all the years to come.

Sophomores Psychoanalyze,

Sylvia Hill, Betty Mullis, Al Trevarthen, Billie Paisley, and Janice Solomon gathered around Stu Taylor at the piano to sing carols the night before leaving for Christmas holidays.

Exams were just around the corner, and freshman, Edna Rose Duncan, received a helping hand from sophomore, Barbara Ayers, who coached her on "parts of the frog."

Registration time again! Sylvia Holt and Johnny Davenport stopped by the registrar's office to pick up class cards from Mona. By pre-registering, they were able to get same classes.

OFFICERS

We came to High Point College in September . . . leaving friends at home . . . accepting new responsibilities . . . meeting new people . . . we were beginning a new era in our life . . . college with its many opportunities. Arriving on campus, our first week was filled with the procedures of orientation . . . tests, parties, meetings . . . learning new names with the help of upperclassmen . . . getting acquainted with professors . . . it was all a part of this life. Classes started the following Monday . . . reading history assignments . . . dreading biology lab . . . writing a theme . . . exercising our muscles in physical education became a routine matter. What! our grades will be mailed home? . . . not so soon . . . we resolved to do our best.

At first time stood still . . . waiting for a letter from home . . . discussing troubles with upperclassmen . . . counting the days until Christmas . . . we found time was too valuable for worry. Everyone was so friendly and we began to know our classmates . . . elections held . . . officers chosen . . . clubs organized . . . members joined . . . we became a part of various activities and took our places as leaders of different organizations.

Our parties were many . . . getting ready for that special person . . . looking forward to the Spring Dance . . . joining in fun with our sorority and fraternity friends. We had grown a lot during the past months . . . spiritual development . . . mental achievement . . . physical growth . . . it had all happened in a year.

The end was almost in sight and the year had been filled with many enjoyable occasions . . . friends lending a helping hand . . . teachers guiding our footsteps . . . now looking to the future, we are anticipating another wonderful year together.

Freshmen Take Tests,

"Do you have a 'Bonnie Tice' listed?" the blonde-headed girl asked the first day of school as she checked into Woman's Hall. Bobbie Barrett and Nancy Miller soon escorted her to her third floor home for a year.

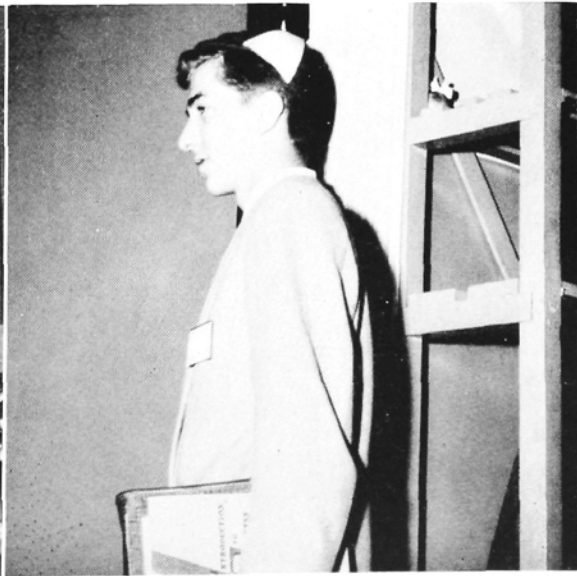

OFFICERS

A familiar scene is posed by Freshmen Officers. Harold Wright, president, and treasurer, Gordon "Scottie" Poindexter, laughingly welcome secretary, Judy Fish, into Woman's Hall by handing her the traditional HPC beanie. Fred Handy, vice-president, begins bringing in luggage for his Florida classmate.

Model Beanies, Choose Friends—

"The Farmer's Daughter," as acted out by Elaine Hoover, was one of the high spots of the fall Freshman Talent Show.

8:20—With new books and beanie, George Boose seemed somewhat apprehensive as he entered his first class at HPC!

New Commercial and Fine Arts Department

The new art department, under the leadership of Mr. Raiford Porter, is an asset to our college. Students are now able to pursue their interests in different phases of art through such courses as: drawing and painting, commercial art, and art for the elementary school teacher.

Students in the fine arts drawing class are busy adding some finishing touches to their compositions. Al Trevarthen is shading his drawing, while Camilla Isley is receiving some advice from Mr. Porter. Voneyle Linthicum studies carefully her next line movement, and Fred Barber takes another look at the model, Patsy Hobbs, as he completes his composition.

. . . to speak of many things

What is college life? It is a thing compounded of many parts—early morning classes, mid-day break at the bookstore, walks across campus at dusk, evenings in the library, and midnight chats in the room. It is fellowship, frivolity, the magic of being young. It is development, adjustment, growth. It is learning.

And what is learning? Is it a thing which can be found only within the walls of a classroom or the library, in the lectures of a professor or the pages of a textbook? Or is learning a part of all the activities in which one is preparing to become a concerned, well-adjusted, and responsible citizen of the world?

Extra-curricular activities are a vital part of the college program. Their value cannot be measured in the terms of a few hours spent each week in pleasant activity with congenial people. They contribute just as surely to preparation for the future as do the hours spent in class.

By participation in extra-curricular activities, a student widens his circle of friendships, meets people who share his interests, and learns to know and understand others better. He gains valuable experience for his vocation and acquires new vocational interests. Working with publications, dramatics, religious organizations, sports, and musical groups are important for those students whose future occupations lie in these fields and for those teachers and youth workers who will direct such activities. Through association and faithful participation in religious groups and Christian activities, students grow spiritually and prepare themselves to take an active part in the religious life in their own communities.

Through participation in Student Government activities—acting as representative to the legislature or judiciary council, serving on committees, taking active part in the enthusiastic campaigning and voting for SGA officers, students gain experience in civic duties. These activities aid the student in becoming an integral and vital part of his school. They train him in responsibility and in concern for the welfare of the people around him.

The well-rounded student is one who takes advantage of all the facets of college life, who concentrates in classroom and study periods so as to gain a broad general background of knowledge, who is training himself for a useful vocation, who is gaining an awareness of the problems and desires of other people, and who is preparing for tomorrow by living a civic-minded life at school.

Democracy In Action—

S G A

All students enrolled at High Point College are members of the Student Government Association and have the right to discuss and vote on all bills at any meeting. As stated in the Constitution: "The purposes of the organization shall be to develop student honor and self-control, to encourage right ideals and promote personal responsibility, and to foster the principles of self-government."

Activities of the SGA include holding assembly programs, sponsoring the freshmen orientation program, planning a May Day Dance, and sending delegates to the state-wide Student Legislative Assembly in Raleigh. One of the highlights of this year was the freshmen and new student talent show, which was directed by Shrimp Flynt. Another SGA project is sponsoring a concert open to all students and a dance by a big-name band.

The officers and representatives of SGA have had an active year as they sought to build, strengthen, and improve the functions of student government.

The Executive Branch of the 1956-57 Student Government Association has been led by: Ernie Ball, President; Sylvia Fox, Secretary; Murphy Osborne, Treasurer; and C. W. Faulkner, Vice-President.

Student Government Association

Ballots are cast in the Student Center for new Student Government officers, bringing to a close weeks of enthusiastic campaigning.

Don Horne, one of the judges, congratulates first-place winner of the Freshman Talent Show, Kelly Jones. Kelly's rendition of "Singing the Blues" was more than successful as evidenced by the "Elvis Presley swoons" of the girls.

A night to remember—soft music and your favorite date—the big spring formal sponsored by the Student Government.

WOMAN'S HALL

A friendly smile, a helping hand, a lasting friendship — these symbols represent the girls of Woman's Hall. The clatter emerging from crowded rooms where groups of girls are socializing and the relative quietness which reigns behind closed doors during study hours are signs of the contrasting moods characterizing life in the dorm.

What girl does not remember the first "call down" followed by an invitation to Monday night board meeting . . . the "roomed" sign on the door the following day . . . phone duty conflicting with that special date . . . and relating to "roomie" the highlights of the evening.

Hours of study and fun combine to make life pleasant in the dorm. Throwing the fully dressed girl with a new frat pin into the shower . . . short-sheeting the girl next door . . . a rush to the bookstore . . . midnight gossip sessions . . . and finally you are a late sleeper who finds that 8:20 class has already begun. Despite this fun, tests and exams call for study. All these constituents of dorm life make for a memorable year in Woman's Hall, a place where each girl learns to live in friendship and harmony, guided by an important and understanding dormitory council.

Cloister for Co-eds

"Uh-Oh! Late Again!" Jack Benfield casts a doubtful look at Jane Coates' watch as Bobbie Barrett gives him that special "you're late" look!

At 10:00 on December 17, Woman's Hall had its annual Christmas Party, and of course, Santa was there with gifts for all.

Men's Dorm Moderators

McCulloch Hall Leaders for 1956-57 were: Bob Duncan, President, seated; Bill Tyson, Head Proctor; C. B. Crook, Vice-President; and Noble Mullican, Secretary.

"Hey, get off that 'inter-com! . . . How about knocking off some of that noise over there, guys! . . . Have you got a white shirt I could borrow? . . . Say, who are you dating tonight? . . . How about waking me up in the morning for breakfast? Gotta make that 8:20 . . ."—where else but McCulloch Hall? And where else does one find such housekeepers?—Coats and trousers draped over chairs, walls papered with "pin-ups," class notes strewn about, trash cans overflowing, fraternity brothers crowded into a "cracker-box" room—that's life in the dorm!

Campus Commuters

As I waited for the stop light to turn green, I heard the chimes sound for that 8:20 class. Red changed to green, and my car was gliding along Montlieu Avenue. It was already 8:21, and I was looking frantically for a parking space. After a loss of three minutes, a brisk walk up the steps of Roberts Hall, and a less desirable climb to the second floor, I arrived for Dr. Robinson's class. You ask if it is like this every morning? Well, almost!

The rest of the class period passed rapidly, and I wandered back to the Day Student Room. Exhausted from the early morning rush, I felt little anticipation for that 1:30 class. I found myself in the Day Student Room competing with the noise in the hall and in the adjoining office. What was the use of trying to study with only thirty minutes left until another class. Starting down stairs to go to the bookstore, I settled down instead in the foyer. Footsteps again interrupted my attempt to memorize a list of history dates, and without further persuasion I gave up studying.

The day was filled with classes, meetings, and other activities. Classes were over for the day, and as I left Roberts Hall, a dorm student called me. Oh well, I did promise to run an errand. After all, I do have the family Chevrolet—I'm a day student.

Standing in the Bus Shelter are: Stan Baker, President; Pat Jordan, Vice-President; Barbara Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Tired fingers pressing typewriter keys, copy interlined with corrections, jumbled desks piled with layout and pictures to be captioned—these are familiar symbols to those who print the happenings which make up the daily life of the High Point College campus. Behind the doors of the Hi-Po and ZENITH offices the faithful staffs of the campus publications labor faithfully and earnestly in spite of one o'clock work sessions, lack of sleep, neglect of studies, and last minute rush to meet deadlines. Producing a paper or a yearbook requires long hours of conscientious, patient, and co-operative work. The staffs find that the satisfaction of working with the Hi-Po and ZENITH more than compensate for their efforts. They find an intangible thrill in interviewing campus personalities and officials, in selling advertisements, reading proof, laying out pages, and writing copy. They work hard. Their reward is the enjoyment of working with publication—and more—the pleasure of producing an accurate and vivid account of High Point College life for its students today and in the years to come.

Support from the Board of Publications has helped to improve the quality of work of both staffs. The 1956-57 board members are: Mr. Arthur S. Withers, Chairman, Miss E. Vera Idol, Miss Clarice Bowman, Dr. Stuart C. Deskins, Dr. Blackwell P. Robinson, Mr. Cecil D. Eby, Jr., Mr. Jack R. Kidd, Mr. Raiford Porter, and Mr. Herman E. Coble.

Presenting the Press: The Zenith The Hi-Po

I am a camera. Though I am made of glass, metal, wire, and leather, I am reliable. My vision is accurate. My memory is infallible.

Though I see many things, I do not feel that which I see. To me a flaming sunset is no greater than a garbage heap. With coldness do I greet emotion. One face or many faces, they are the same.

I do not need hope, nor laughter, nor friends. These are for humans. My only need is light. Without light I am blind, but I do not feel blindness.

I deserve all praise. No blame is mine. I do not err. I am accurate and infallible. I AM A CAMERA.

Behind every issue of the Hi-Po and every page of the Zenith are hours of work in the "dark room." For his time and quality of work, both publications salute our photographer—Kyle Stirling.

Twice a month the tower office hums with the sound of voices, clicking of typewriters, and the hustle of a great deal of activity as the deadline for the Hi-Po rolls around again.

For the first time in several years, the journalism class was revived at High Point College. This year the class has served as a workshop for the Hi-Po and students contributed many valuable articles both newswise and creativewise. In turn, the Hi-Po has served as a lab from which the aspirant journalists have received credit for the number of hours spent in work on the paper.

This year's co-editors, Shelby Mosley and Jane Lucas, have shared the responsibility of headlines and page make-up successfully. It is their sincere hope that they have presented to the student body a paper which is newsworthy and interesting and which upholds the American tradition of freedom of expression.

The business dealings of the Hi-Po are transacted under the capable hands of John Perry. A veteran newspaper worker, he holds the position of business manager for the second consecutive year and was associate business manager prior to last year. To him go the tasks of acquiring ads, both from national advertising services and local sources, paying the bills encountered by the publication, and collecting payments.

Although John sometimes is known to complain about the high cost of an issue, he always manages to supply needed funds and still leave a surplus for emergencies of perhaps a social affair to climax the year's labor.

To John and Gene Simpson, associate business manager, and their workers a debt of thanks is due for indispensable service in the publication of the Hi-Po.

In Praise of Alma Mater

To Alma Mater sing we now;

To thee all loyalty we vow.

In knowledge, faith, humility . . .

Of thee we would be worthy.

Thy motto may we all obey,

nil sine numine

May we thy children learn to pray

And walk with Alma Mater.

DR. LEW J. LEWIS

During the 1955-56 session, the student legislature adopted a new official Alma Mater for High Point College. The student body is deeply grateful to Dr. Lew Lewis of the Music Department, who not only composed the music but also wrote the very lovely words of our Alma Mater. Dr. Lewis is a composer of experience, having written a number of anthems for our A Capella Choir and also for his choir at Calvary Methodist Church. Last year his compositions won several first prizes at a Guilford County arts festival. Students, faculty, and alumni of High Point College are very proud of having an original Alma Mater of real distinction.

Dr. Lewis is the director of the High Point College band, which we hear at most of our basketball games and also at special concerts during the year. He also conducts the High Point Symphony Orchestra, consisting of students and residents of High Point in two annual concerts. As professor of music education, one of his main jobs is the careful and thorough preparation of High Point College students for music work in the public schools.

"Let us lift up our voices"

A Cappella Choir

Success . . . Inspiration . . . Camaraderie . .

Long before most H. P. C. students have ventured a wary glance at their alarm clocks, members of the choir sleepily board the school bus anticipating another unforgettable spring tour.

A profusion of robes, music, and luggage—a badly-out-of-tune ukelele . . . the click of cards being shuffled . . . an outbreak of laughter at the latest joke . . . the never-ending succession of songs . . . an "all-aboard!" from Al, and the choir is off again on tour.

Each year two tours are made by the group, one inter-state and one out-of-state. This year the tour itineraries included western North Carolina and parts of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, and New York.

. we owe to our Director

"No, no sopranos! Much more legato! Altos, what happened to you? Basses, that was too much, and too much is too much! Tenors, no 's' on 'fear,' please! Now let's stand and. . . ." His sentence is lost in the daily harmonious, "Happy Birthday, Mr. Cox." It's twelve fifteen, and the A Cappella Choir is in session!

The Choir has for the past four years shown tremendous progress, both in number and state-wide recognition, under the excellent directing of Mr. Richard Cox. Mr. Cox, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, has had extensive experience in choral singing and directing. He has studied with Charles Panzera in Paris and Walter Golde of New York City. Choral groups of which he has been a part include the American Church Choir and the Paris Philharmonic Chorus. Under his leadership we can expect even greater accomplishments from the choir in the years to come.

Music for Every Mood

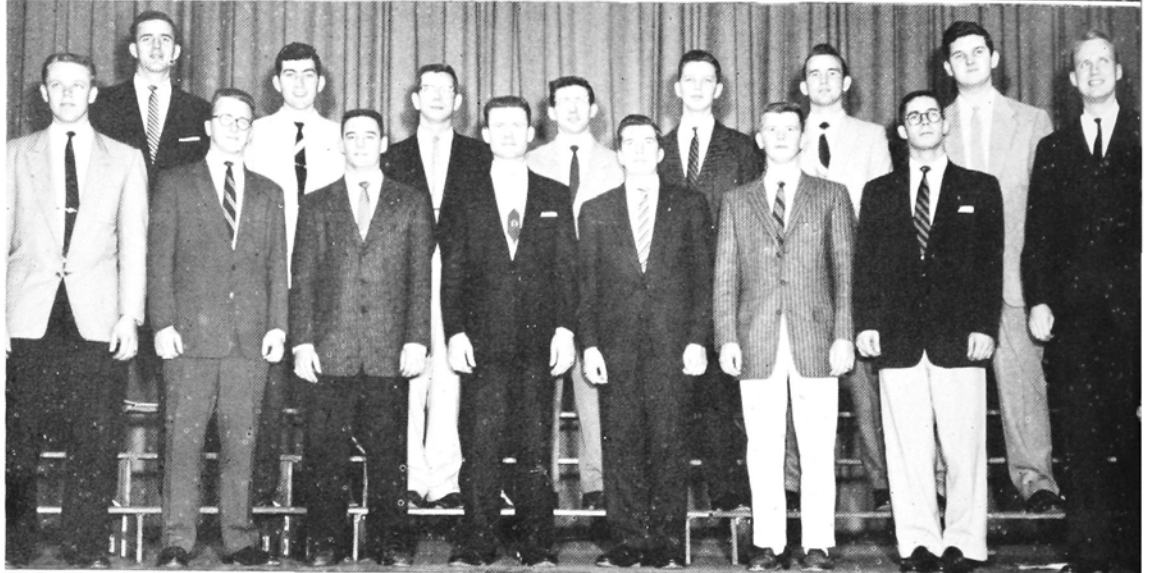

WOMAN'S CHOIR

On Thursday afternoons girls from the four classes assemble in the bandroom to enjoy an hour of secular music. Directed by Mr. Richard Cox, the Womans' Chorus appears in seasonal concerts presented by the Music Department and is on call for local performances.

MEN'S ENSEMBLE

The rich harmony of these boys who love to sing has become a favorite part of musical presentations on campus. Local groups enjoy their spirited renditions of secular selections. The men's ensemble is led by Mr. Cox.

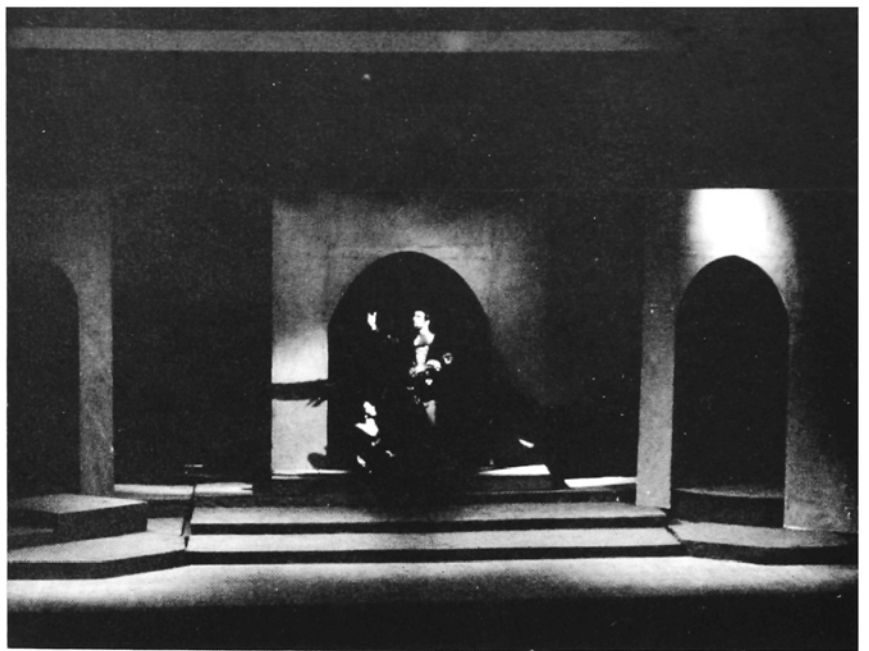

HIGH POINT SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The High Point Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Lew J. Lewis, is composed of students and members of the High Point community. Their annual spring concert and the Christmas concert in conjunction with the choir are highlights of the college year.

The Tower Players, the campus dramatic organization, each year brings the best in theater entertainment to the college community. Under the competent direction of Miss Jane DeSpain, the 1956-57 major productions were Shakespeare's "Macbeth," and the Broadway comedy "Harvey." In addition, along with the Dramatics class, the Tower Players presented "Studio Pedantics," and two one-act plays.

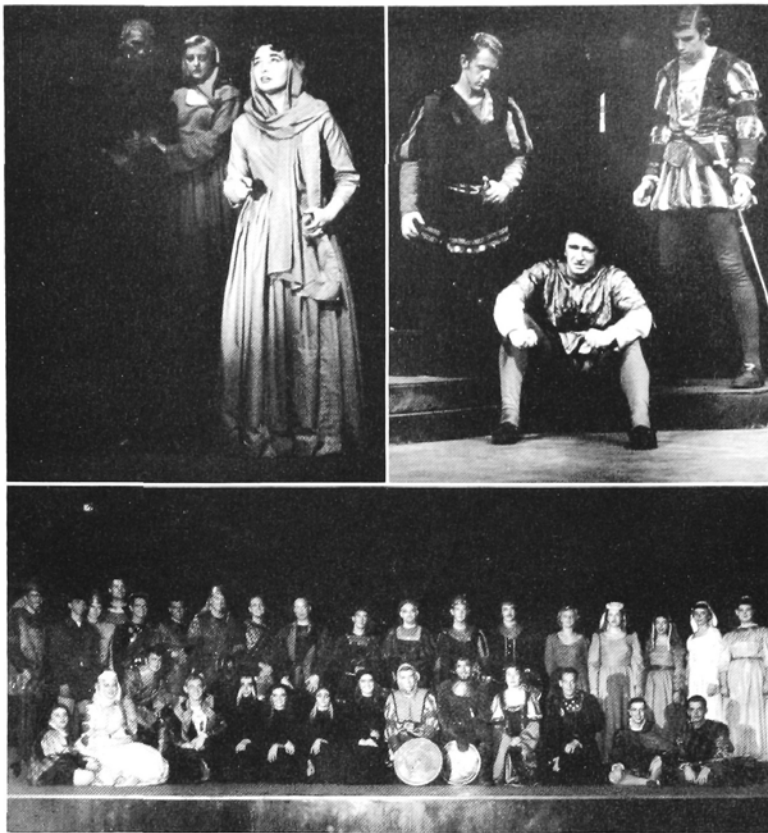

The Stage . . . a Mirror of Life

Pictured here are the officers of the Tower Players. An air of co-operation, friendliness, and closeness between director and cast is prevalent as they begin working on the set. Paint crews, carpenters, actors, and director unite in an organization with one goal—the successful production of a play.

Betty Mullinix and Mark Rose rehearse a few lines from "Macbeth" as Tower Players look on. The Tower Players, whose pet love is dramatics, make room for students who wish to engage in almost any dramatic field—acting, lighting, make-up, directing, carpentry, selling tickets, and making costumes. They spend long hours in rehearsals, both crew and cast, and often work afternoons and nights steadily for weeks before a major production is presented.

MacBeth

There was a rush back stage as lights and sound effects were checked and places were taken by the actors; and then it happened—the curtain opened and the voice of King Duncan was heard, opening the Tower Players' production of "MacBeth." Miss DeSpain directed this extravaganza of 32 players. Stage performance was enhanced by the superb lighting, especially shown in the banquet scene.

Harvey

The auditorium is a scene of complete confusion. Rehearsals for "Harvey" are in full-swing, and a hundred activities are going on at once . . . Stage crews hammering, painting, shouting orders to each other . . . actors walking back and forth repeating lines . . . Above all this bedlam, the director and producer, Miss DeSpain, watches the chaotic proceedings with varying degrees of weariness.

Opening night finally comes, and with it come familiar qualms. "I've forgotten my lines . . . I'm losing my voice . . . Five minutes, everyone . . ." Then the curtain rises, the show goes on . . . The final scene of "Harvey" ends . . . curtain calls are taken, and again the scene is one of happy confusion. "Congratulations everybody . . . You were great."

Studio Pedantics

Last year, for the first time, the students and faculty of High Point College presented the Student Faculty Review under the direction of Miss DeSpain. The presentation in the form of a television program was so successful that the drama department plans to make Studio Pedantics an annual performance.

The program consisted of eight scenes. In the "Gay Nineties" scene Judy Wilson pantomimed "Madame Nightingale," an opera singer. The "Harvard" scene, a favorite section of the night's entertainment, featured H. P. C. basketball players as Harvard ball stars.

An original musical act written by Dr. Lewis, turned thoughts south of the border to Mexico, and "The Yankee" scene included a chorus line and the "Four Sophs" vocal group.

Voncycle Linthicum and Richard Hallman took part in a spirited "Charleston" scene, and in the closing "Bookstore" scene Sonny Thornton was a hit with his version of "Love Me or Leave Me." A talent review and an "Old Time Movie" completed a splendid variety show.

"On the Air"

Through the facilities of WHPE, the High Point College Radio Class has presented weekly programs of varying interests including "Driver's Playhouse," "Amateur Hour," and "The Small One."

Special tribute goes to Miss Jane DeSpain, the director, who helped with each broadcast. The programs proved to be very educational and entertaining as the mysteries of sound effects and the general routine of broadcasting were introduced to the radio class.

One Acts

Two one-act plays for the annual college homecoming were presented on January 19. The plays, "The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden" and "The Devil and Daniel Webster," were received with great enthusiasm by the audience. The effective, stylized sets were designed by Mr. Raiford Porter, the art instructor.

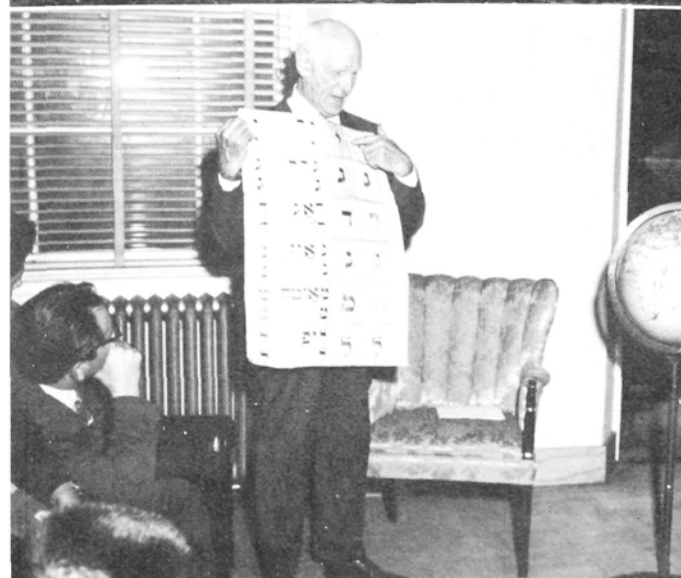

With a ready smile and a winning personality, Mrs. Marge Case is truly an asset to H.P.C.'s religion department.

At the first Fall Forum meeting, Voncycle Linthicum, president of S.C.A., introduces inspirational speaker of the week, Don Kuhn.

The Christmas Story tableau, as presented by Kappa Chi, is an annual event enriching spiritual lives of college and community.

In the foyer of Robert's Hall, Dr. Frank Laubach teaches students to read Hebrew, illustrating his educational methods used throughout the world.

The High Point College tower chimes ring out distinctly amid the clamor of automobile horns and other noises that are a part of an evening in the city of High Point. These same clear chimes pervade the reverent stillness of Lindley Chapel, and a joyful feeling envelops the hearts of students who have come there for silent meditation and worship. Just as the chimes impart a reverence to every college evening, so does the spiritual atmosphere of the college enrich and permeate the lives of its students, and, through them, the lives of the untold number of persons with whom they are associated. The college seeks to develop in students Christian ideals through participation in religious activities, worship, leadership in various local churches, and fellowship with other Christian students.

Under the direction of Dr. Locke, Miss Bowman, Dr. Rozzelle, and Mrs. Case, students find a rich and abiding faith as they work and worship together. Students and faculty members plan the religious activities for the year. This group strives to stimulate a more Christian attitude among all students.

Student Christian Association

The Student Christian Association of High Point College is composed of the entire student body. Its functions are guided by a council of three officers, a president and two representatives from each religious organization, and four advisors. The council plans the religious programs for the entire year and serves as the co-ordinator of all religious activities.

Among the various activities of the S.C.A. are the inspirational devotions held Monday through Saturday in Lindley Chapel with both students and faculty members as leaders. Wednesday night Prayer Meetings and Sunday Vespers are sponsored by the organization.

November 18-23, Don Kuhn led the Fall Forum. The theme for the week was "College As A Vocation." Mr. Kuhn works with the Methodist Board of Temperance in Washington, D. C. Special project of the S.C.A. is the support of the two Korean Children, Kim Im Ie, and Bak Tae Woung. The entire student body are the generous foster parents of this small boy and girl.

The Student Christian Council strives to develop in students a Christian philosophy of life through a wholesome, spiritual atmosphere. Integrating the social, cultural, and religious life of the students, the motto of the council is "to stimulate religious life so as to foster a more Christian attitude among students."

S. C. A. Adopts Foster Children

Sunny and pleasant by nature, Kim is even more so now that she "belongs" to someone—that someone being nine-hundred students of H. P. C.

"Counting the days till I hear from you with my fingers crossed"—such is the ending of many letters recently received by High Point College students early in the fall. They come from Kim Im Ie, a small Korean girl whom the Student Christian Association chose to support financially. Yes, Kim is our foster daughter, one who is very proud of having as her "adopted" parents, nine-hundred college students . . . We of H. P. C. In a fall assembly program, students said farewell to Vasiliki, a former adopted orphan supported by High Point College for about seven years. Vasiliki is a young woman now, ready to make her own way—unaided financially. Wanting to continue such a project, students readily voted to help Kim Im Ie—to set her on the path to health and happiness.

Students gave of their money, willingly and generously. The pledges poured in. Promises were made—and fulfilled. The general response was overwhelming. Kim was quite adequately cared for, with much money left idle in the bank.

Then the brainstorm occurred. Why should the money be idle? Why not have two foster children? The idea was investigated; information was acquired; plans were made. Another assembly program—another enthusiastic response. The idea was accepted. Bak Tae Woung, another Korean orphan, a boy, now has the right to claim as parents—nine-hundred H. P. C. students.

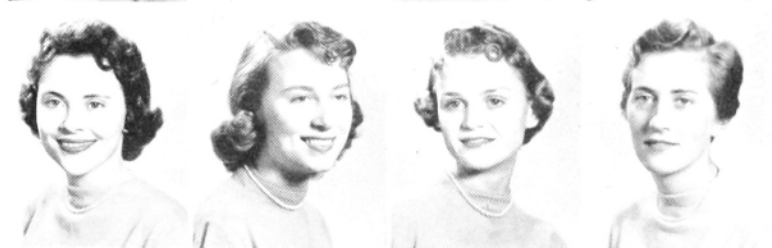

Yes, High Point College has a heart, and because of this, two small hearts now beat more easily, more assuredly. Across the seas, the two foster children of High Point College wait—"with fingers crossed."

• Sisterhood

Alpha Delta Theta was organized October 20, 1952, for all girls who are interested in Christian living and service. It has continually striven to encourage Christian stewardship and to provide fellowship, thereby enriching the spiritual life of the young women at High Point College.

The annual Freshman pajama party given by Alpha Delta Theta provides an excellent opportunity for Freshman girls to become better acquainted with both Freshmen and upperclassmen in the dormitory. Alpha Delta Theta sponsors dorm devotions every Thursday night which are an inspirational and integral part of college dormitory life.

At the two Alpha Delta Theta retreats each year, girls exchange ideas and experiences and join in fellowship and fun. Interesting speakers develop the theme of the retreats and lead discussion groups.

This year creative art sessions have provided an outlet for the creative talents of members. In Alpha Delta Theta girls have an opportunity to correlate Christian living with vocational plans.

"Sisters in the Service of God"

After a tiring day of activities and classes, the girls in Woman's Hall pause for the weekly dorm devotions.

Carolyn Tulloch, Maryette Brown, and Margaret Ann Whitesell agree that one more creative idea can put the finishing touch on any poster.

KAPPA CHI

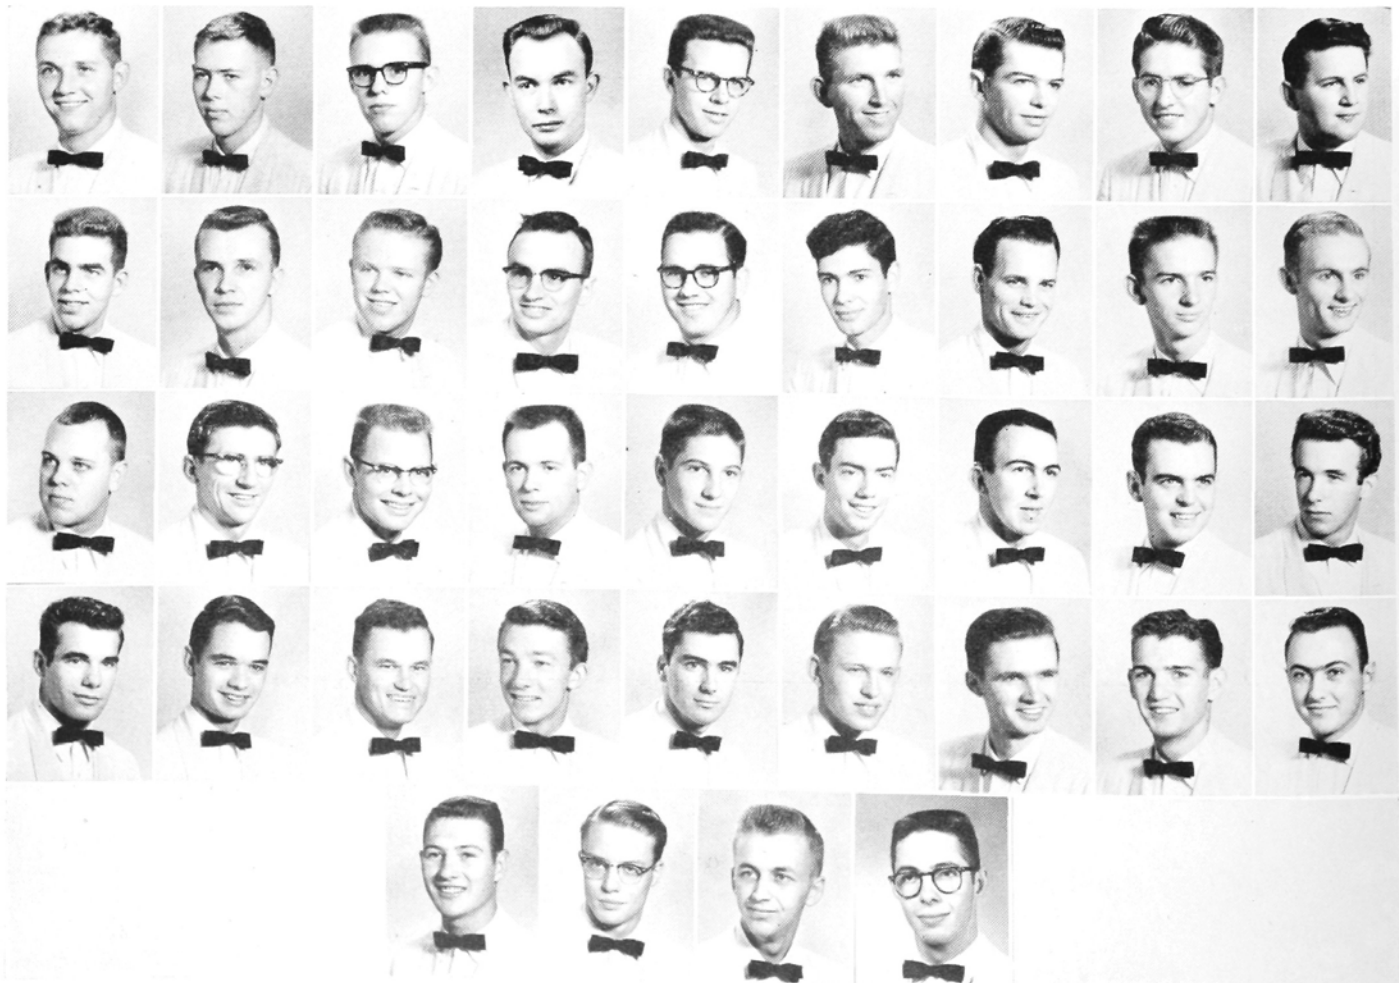

Another meeting of Kappa Chi was ending, and the men were singing the familiar words "Brothers in Christ are we." In each person there was a spirit of brotherhood and friendship. This feeling of brotherhood has often been felt as our meetings closed, for Kappa Chi, a national preministerial fraternity, consisting of men "joined by our Lord who for us did die." Kappa Chi is represented at High Point College by Xi Chapter, whose membership consists of male students preparing for full time Christian service. The purposes of Xi Chapter of Kappa Chi are to provide and to promote "a medium of instruction, inspiration, and realization of true fraternity in order that its members may mutually share worship, fellowship, and service based on the high ideals of Jesus Christ."

In addition to its weekly meetings, Xi Chapter engages in many other activities and projects designed to help build the Fellowship, and at the same time, to serve High Point College and the surrounding community. These services include a Christmas nativity scene, vesper programs, morning devotions, supply preaching and teaching, building an outdoor chapel, a Kappa Chi chorus, participating in the intramural program, and visiting the Old Folk's Home.

Guiding the Helping Hands

Fellowship Teams were organized at High Point College in 1953. Under the directions of Dr. William Locke, Miss Clarice Bowman, and Mrs. Marge Case, fifty-six students this year have found a rich and abiding faith as they worship and work together in various churches.

These teams are organized for the purpose of strengthening the youth programs in local churches, leading you in more abundant Christian living, and enabling the students to gain experience in the youth work of the Church.

Planning Committee for this year's teams were: Jane Thornhill, Margaret Ann Whitesell, Wilbur Jackson, Beth Peterson, Elmer Hall.

Methodist Student Fellowship

WE HAVE A FELLOWSHIP

The Methodist Student Fellowship is a community of college students striving to grow in Christian love for God and for one another. The M.S.F. could really be called the Christian Student Fellowship, for its program is planned to meet the needs of all college students. An M.S.F.'er is a student who is formulating an intelligent faith, learning how to enjoy himself and how to have fellowship with others, participating in service projects, building a better college community, discovering God's will for his life's work, and striving to understand and assist people of other lands. The criterion for all these endeavors is the life and teachings of Jesus as found in the Bible.

OUR YEAR AT A GLANCE

Realizing the needs of the modern college student, the M.S.F. has presented during the past year, programs to help the students of High Point College grow intellectually, socially, and spiritually. The annual "Welcome Frosh" party was again a tremendous success, and that first campfire worship service helped everyone start the semester on the right footing. An old friend of the M.S.F., the "Lamp," again made its appearance on the campus and has served admirably as the official publication of the group. Then time began to pass more quickly; and amid a flurry of council meetings and business sessions came such memorable occasions as the Halloween Sock Hop, the trip to see the Christmas Story at the Panetarium, caroling with W. C. Wesleyans, the program on World Peace, attending the State Conference at Greensboro, Dr. Waldo Beach's enlightening message on race relations, the Student-Faculty Panel, and, of course, that never to be forgotten Highland Fling. 1956-57 has truly been a year of fellowship, growth, and enjoyment for H. P. C.—M. S. F.'ers.

Congratulations,

Westminster Fellowship

on your flourishing first year

The 1956-57 school year was a big one for the Presbyterian students attending High Point College, because it marked the beginning of the Presbyterian Westminster Fellowship. The Presbyterian Fellowship was organized for the purpose of giving the Presbyterian students on campus an organization of their own. The result of this organization has been such an inspiration to its members that it will remain an important addition to the campus life of High Point College.

The first meeting was held November 8, 1956, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Pancoast, devoted leaders in the First Presbyterian Church of High Point, and sponsors of the Fellowship. The officers elected by the members consisted of Charles Dyson, President; Helen Rakestraw, Vice-President; David Pancoast, Secretary; Liz Peterson, Treasurer; Betsy Singletary, Program Chairman; and Otis Boroughs, Student Government Representative.

At the first called meeting of the Student Christian Association, Westminster was formally accepted as a permanent student religious organization. Since that time it has participated in all the important religious activities on campus. Aside from the campus activities the Fellowship has engaged in service projects and social activities for its members.

The meetings, which have all been held bi-monthly at the Pancoast's home, have consisted mainly of discussion of Presbyterian beliefs and doctrines. The group is composed of fifteen active members. All students are urged to attend, and are welcome to join the organization and enjoy the benefits of fellowship, service, and worship.

The officers and sponsors smile approvingly at the progress of the newly organized Westminster Fellowship.

After the business session, the sponsors serve home-made refreshments to the Presbyterian students.

H.P.C.'s United Nations

"What can I, as a student, do to better relationships on the campus and abroad?" This was our theme for the year. In trying to answer the many questions, the club gave to the Student Body many varied programs consisting of "A Visit to Other Lands" given by Lucy Garcia and Pedro Mayor of Cuba, Helen Clay of Brazil, Ernest Albert of Pakistan, and Ben Zambrana of Bolivia. "A Journey Across the Sea" was given by Dr. Frances Muldrow who took the students on an imaginary trip.

The International Relations Club is making plans to meet with other clubs from colleges in North Carolina to hold a joint meeting soon.

Those serving as officers were: Ruby Ragan, President; Tony Wen, Vice-President; Norma Kearns, Secretary-Treasurer; and Ernest Albert, Student Government Representative. Dr. Alexander Berkis served as faculty advisor.

Uncle Sam's Alumni

The Veterans' Club represents a different group from other campus organizations. The men are former service personnel. The Veterans' Club has organized them so that through their collective efforts they may be better enabled to pursue their common goal of education.

This year the club has taken an active part in controlling soil erosion around the college. The banks surrounding the parking lot have been replanted with grass after surfacing them with top-soil. All trash cans on the campus have been repaired and painted by the club.

In business sessions several speakers from various Veterans' organizations have kept the members informed of latest governmental legislation that affects veterans. Definite stands on Veterans' legislation have been taken and these opinions sent to Congress.

K Σ Δ

Kappa Sigma Delta, educational fraternity at High Point College, was established in 1955-1956. The organization seeks to increase an interest in education and teaching. Membership is open to upperclassmen who have majors or minors in education, psychology, religious education, physical education, business education, and music education.

Officers for this year have been: Wesley Scott, President; Gene Kirby, Vice-President; Pansy Livengood, Secretary; Bob Hunsucker, Treasurer. Under the guidance of these officers and faculty advisors, Dr. Hinshaw and Mr. Dodamead, the local chapter is working toward securing membership in the National Honorary Educational Fraternity, Kappa Delta Pi.

F. T. A.

Since 1957 is the Twentieth Anniversary of the F. T. A. and the Centennial Year of N. E. A., the Calvin Wiley Chapter of the Future Teachers of America has had a splendid year. In March, Jane Bundy and Ronald Everett, Mr. and Miss F. T. A. at H. P. C., Mr. Coble, the sponsor for the group, and delegates attended the N.C.E.A. Convention in Wilmington.

The Future Teachers of America offer participation in improving the welfare and competence of teachers; in programs to attract capable young people to the teaching profession; in professional organizations—local, state, and national, and in building the educational programs needed for our time.

Officers for the year were: Pansy Livengood, President; Celene Hutchins, Vice-President; Rachael Goodman, Secretary; Ronnie Everett, Treasurer; Betsy Hedgecock, Program Chairman; and Judith Ward, Student Government Representative.

Proud to teach, the Future Teachers of America will lead the way, heeding the call of youth.

Ticker Tape Tycoons—1975

The Future Business Leaders of America, in showing their eagerness to prepare for careers in the business world, have established an interesting and active organization for all business students on campus.

Field trips have been taken to various types of business offices, and each month a business leader is invited to meet with the group and speak on subjects of common interest. Being a part of a national organization, members may attend national and state conferences as well as enjoy the local activities.

One of the projects of this year is to present trophies to Mr. and Miss F.B.L.A. The recipients will be chosen for such merits as participation and co-operation within the organization.

The officers of the Future Business Leaders of America are: C. B. Crook, President; Ray Hughes, Vice-President; Art Taylor, Treasurer; Pati Goldston, Secretary and S.G.A. Alternate; Roger Furr, S.G.A. Representative; Joe Siceloff, Corresponding Secretary; Dr. C. F. Hankins, Faculty Advisor.

Concert Series

The Community Concerts held in High Point College Memorial Auditorium afford a significant cultural contribution to college life. Opening the concert series this year, Emily Frankel, Mark Ryder, and Will Holt presented "Ballet and Ballads." Other highlights of the year were John Crain, tenor, and Leonard Roser, celloist. The appearance of the famed National Symphony Orchestra, directed by Howard Mitchell, culminated a splendid concert series.

Pushing my way along the row, stumbling over the feet of other students, I sank breathless into my seat just as Dr. Locke rose to announce the first hymn. MR. ARTHUR PASCHAL

A hush falls over Wednesday morning assembly as a gruff voice booms out through the loudspeaker. Behind the rostrum glittering with gold trophies the voice continues . . . "We've got here on the High Point College campus one of the finest intramural programs in the state. . . ."

The speaker, known by all as a friend, has a very vital reason for making such a statement. During the eight years he has worked in our Physical Education Department, Mr. Arthur Paschal has truly developed one of the best organized programs of intramural sports in the state. A graduate of Northeastern State College in Oklahoma and Oklahoma A. & M., he and "Mom" have won a place in the hearts of the students past and present.

Coach Virgil Yow

... Building a Winning Team

"This year we will have a winning team." These were the words expressed by Coach Virgil Yow as the varsity team began their fall practice. Experience, leadership, co-operation, and great hope for the conference title—these were the aspirations and qualities possessed by H.P.C. Panthers and their coach.

Coach Yow returned to High Point College four years ago. Since that time he has worked unceasingly to build and improve the team. This year the untiring efforts of Mr. Yow have been rewarded by a successful basketball season.

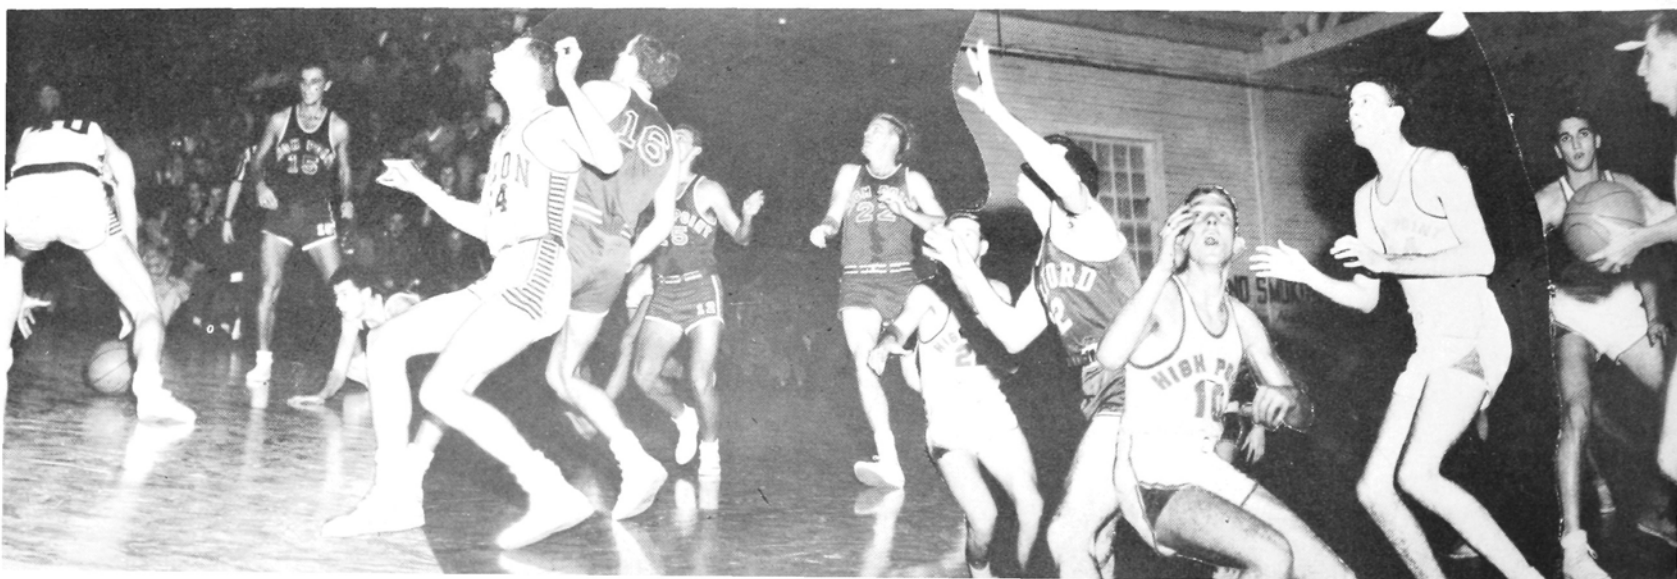

Bobby Suggs

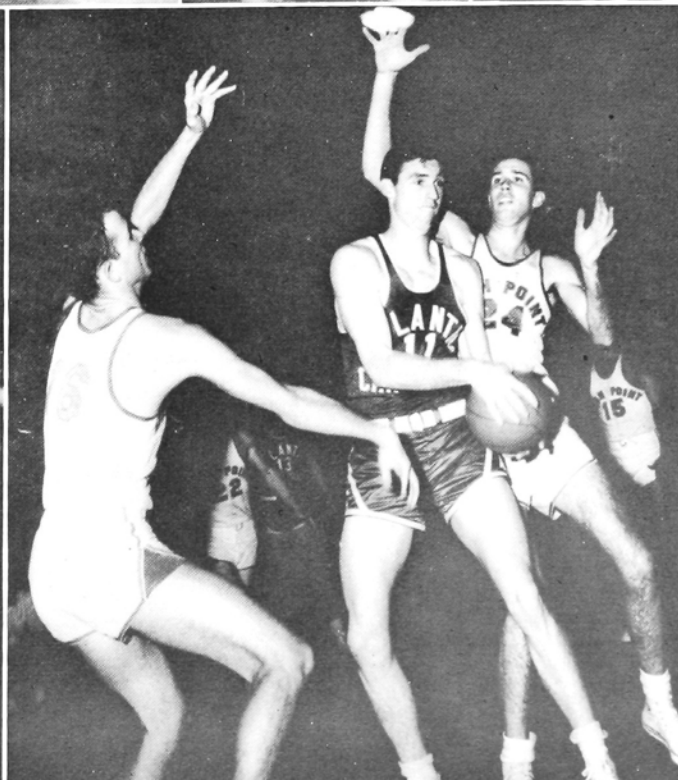

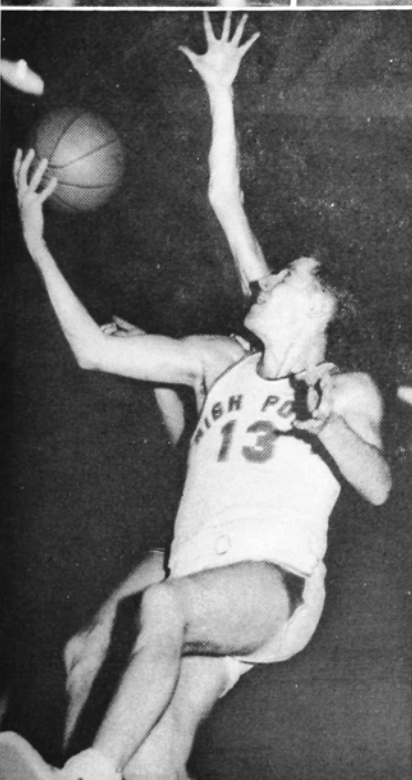

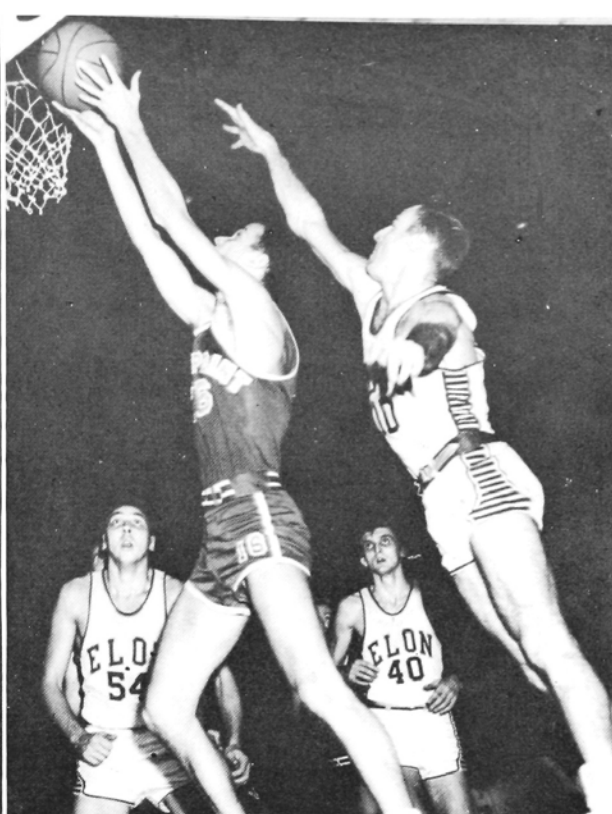

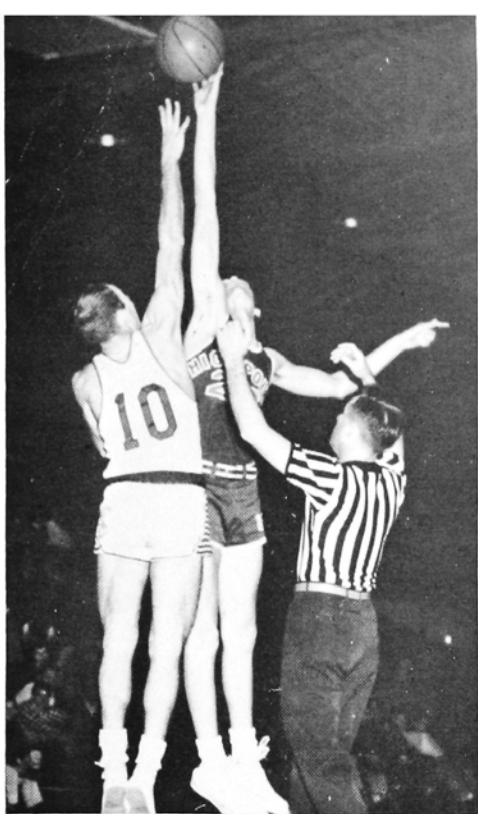

... Manager and Morale Booster

Bobby Suggs, a popular junior from Fair Grove, North Carolina, has an official title of "manager," but his duties include those of water-boy, nurse-maid, official score keeper, and general morale booster.

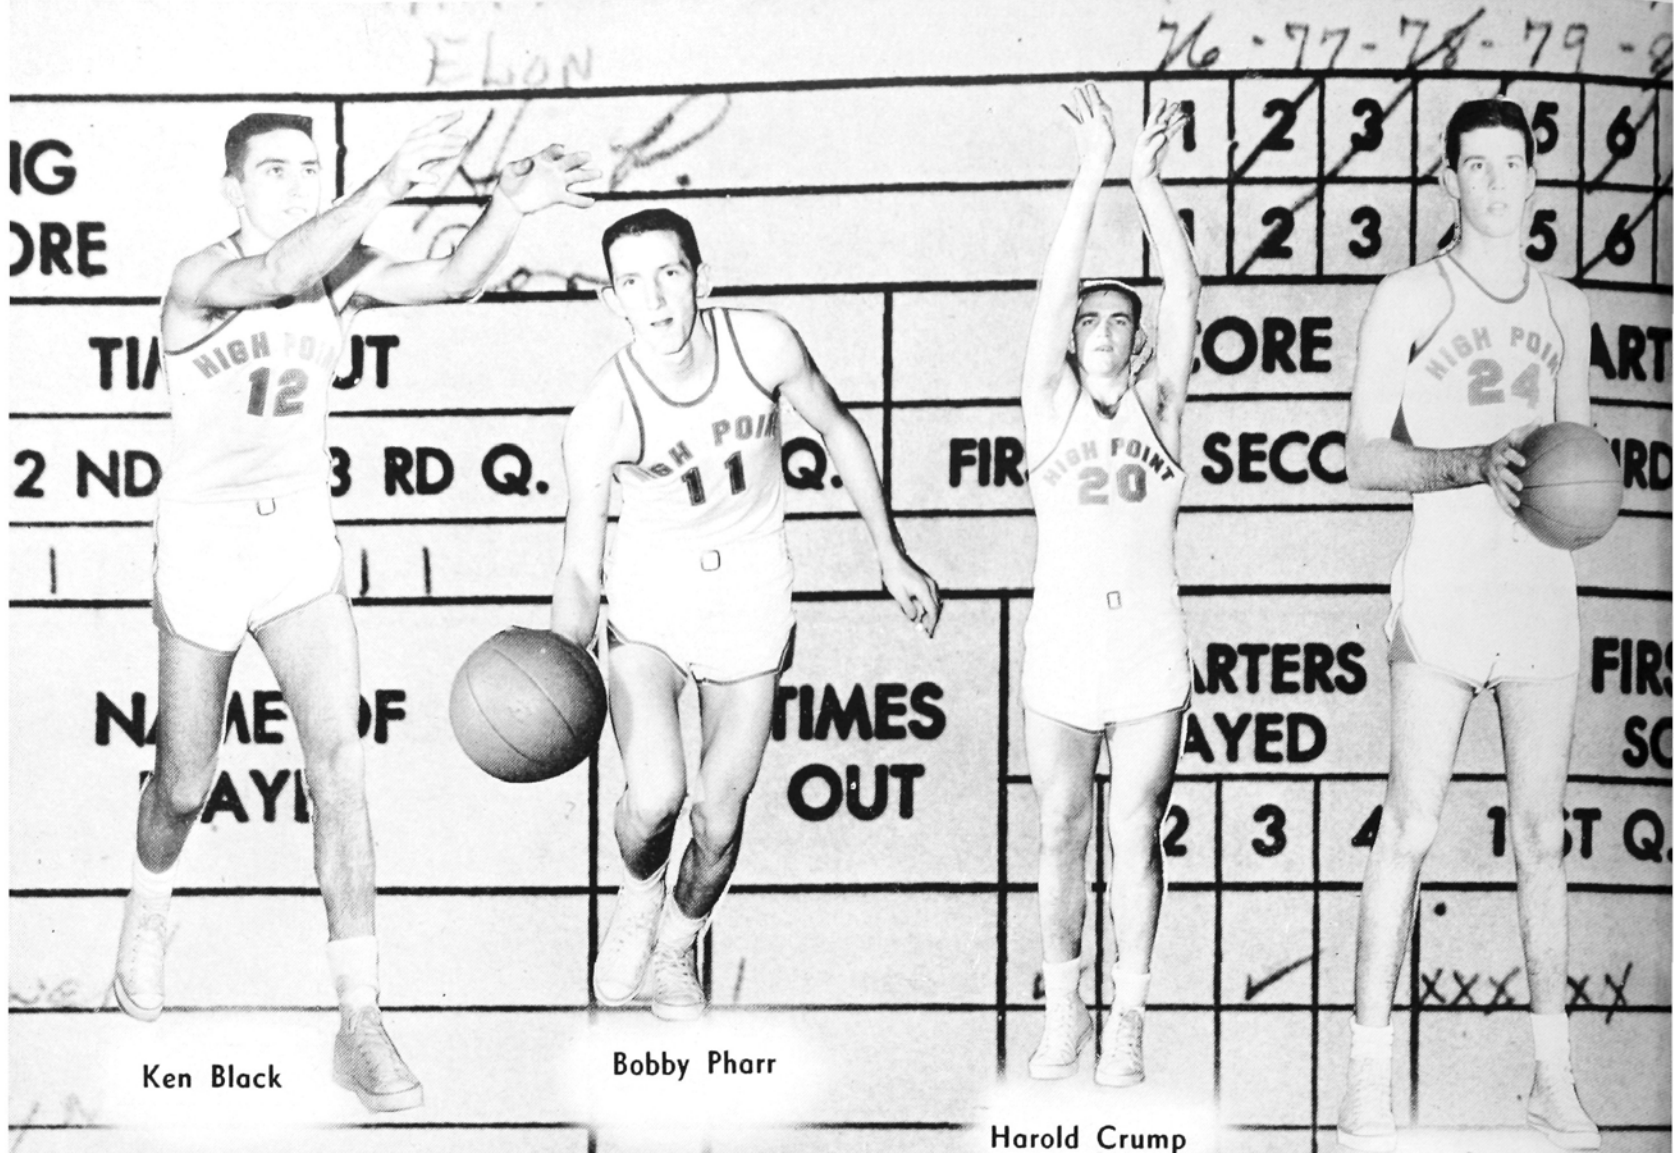

All the Panthers consider Bobby somewhat of an expert on basketball. They have the deepest respect for his opinions, and after each game the players can be seen asking Bobby for a critical analysis of their individual performance.

Probably the greatest contribution that Bobby gives to the Panthers is his personality. His ready wit, combined with a friendly and genuine loyalty to his team, has endeared him to both coaching staff and team.

The Varsity

. . . speed . . . accuracy . . . reserve strength

The High Point Panthers, depending mainly on the returning lettermen from last year, used their speed and accuracy to carry them through a successful basketball season. This year the Panthers have been called the best team to be floored by High Point College in several seasons of basketball. Although the team was never in first place, at mid-season it was rated as the most likely team to beat the undefeated Lenoir Rhyne Bears.

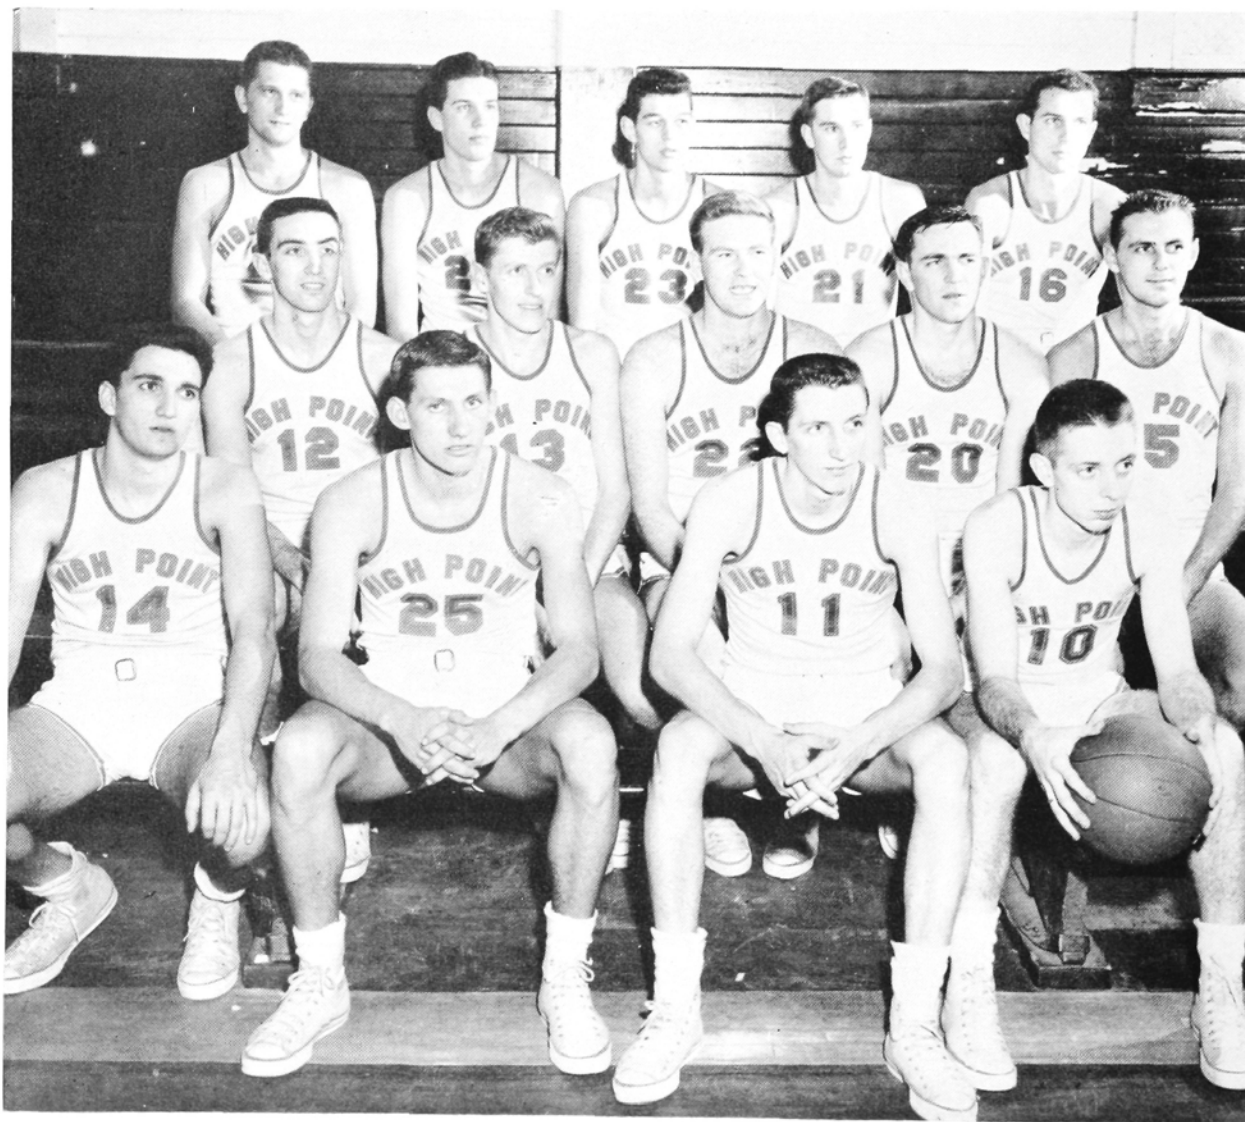

The team was led by the miraculous team play and rebounding of captain Jack Powell and the shooting of Bill Huegele. Jack was feared throughout the conference and proved to be the difference between a win and a loss in many of the games. Bill Huegele, probably the most accurate shooter in the conference, paved the way in the scoring department. Paul Stanton was another prominent figure who contributed his share to winning ways of the Panthers—his hustle and attitude added much to the team spirit. A very deceptive guard, Harold Crump, proved to be an experienced hand at hitting the basket from anywhere on the court; and the tallest man on the team, Ken Williams provided necessary rebounds. High recognition goes to Maury Beauchot and Bobby Pharr for the splendid job they did as reserve guards. Height did not interfere with Tom Payne and his rebounding action.

Dan Sewell, a freshman, gave great promise to the team while Sonny Thornton was one of the best defensive men for the Panthers. Bobby Dunbar and Steve Afendis performed well in the games, and Phil Crockett played the role of the tall man in many instances. For the reserve strength Ken Black and Tom Payne were the main men.

The varsity team and Coach Yow deserve utmost praise for their endless efforts to give H. P. C. the best year in basketball.

The High Point College Panthers were downed by the Atlantic Christians in the quarter finals of the North State College Tournament at Lexington Gymnasium. The Christians started off at a fast gait as Jack Underwood drove in for eight points in the early minutes of the game. Big John Marley added his rebounding power and the Panthers found themselves behind by a margin of ten points at half time. After the half, the never giving-up Panthers, led by the set shooting of Sonny Thornton, tried for a come-back. High Point was only two points behind when Marley started hitting basket after basket to equal and surpass the Panthers' surge of offensive play. It was a hard and fierce battle to the end, but the A. C. team was not to be denied and they came out victorious by a score of 82 to 72. Ken Williams played one of his best games of the year and was high scorer of High Point with fifteen points.

Too late for a comeback.

H o m e c o m i n g

Across the entrance to the campus hung a banner emblazoned with the words, "Welcome, Alumni." On January 19, 300 alumni came back to a campus bathed in sunlight to see once more the teachers who had given direction to their college years, to share memories with friends who could not be forgotten, and to seek again the favorite haunts of their school-days.

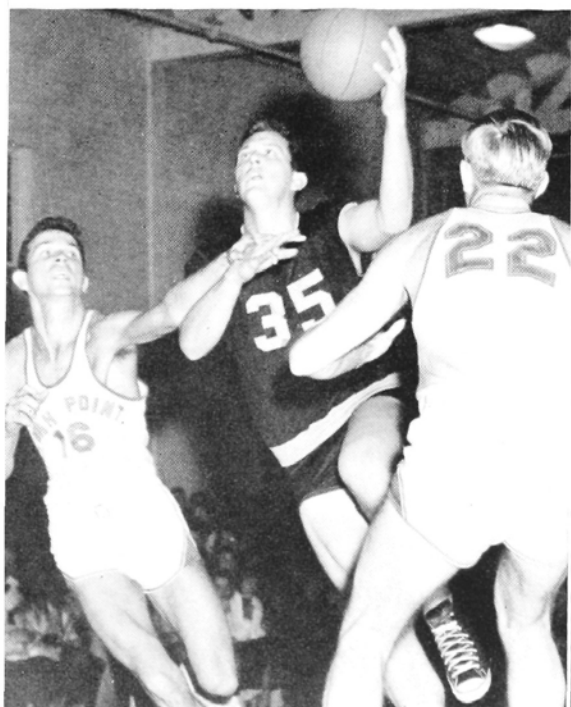

At the open house at the home of the president, former students chatted with Dr. and Mrs. Cooke and with old friends. They enjoyed the Tower Players' productions of Thornton Wilder's "The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden" and Stephen Vincent Benet's "The Devil and Daniel Webster." After a barbecue supper the old grads flocked to the overflowing gym for the homecoming game, thrilling with pride as the High Point Panthers defeated Appalachian after a "nip-and-tuck" game. Mr. Whicker introduced some of the outstanding alumni of the college, and pretty, brunette Shirley Yokley was crowned homecoming queen.

After the game the former High Point students gathered for a reception in the student center to reminisce until late hours, evoking the fun and laughter of their college years. As they drove away slowly, glancing back through the darkness to catch a last glimpse of the lighted tower, they added this day to their treasured memories of High Point College.

PEP RALLY

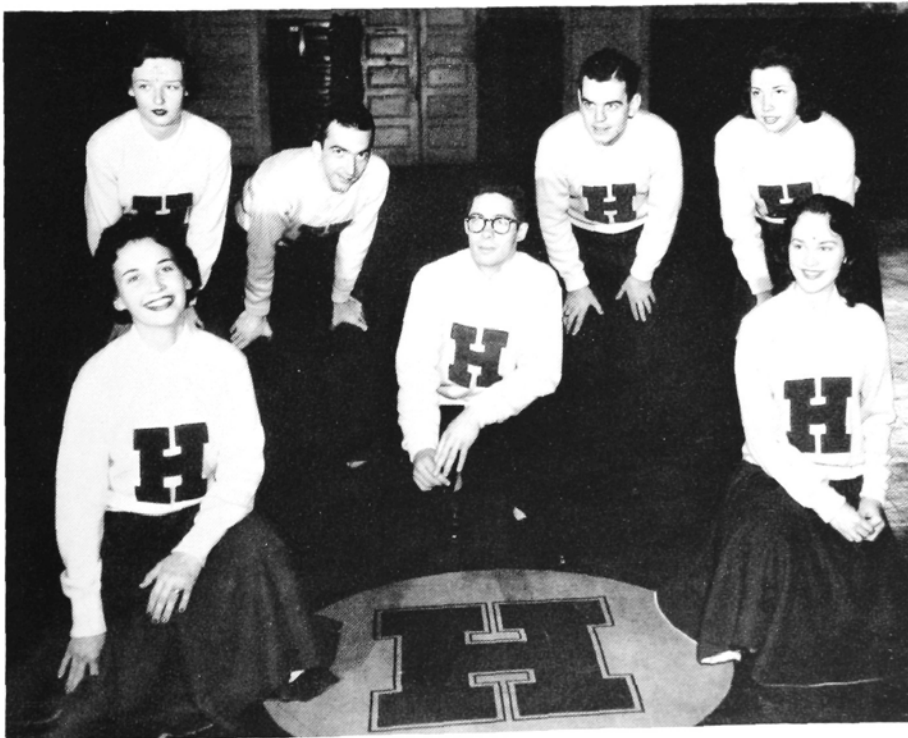

Repressed excitement swept the packed gym. Breathless, hushed, the crowd watched as the ball left the hands of a player and sailed in a clean arc through the basket. As with one motion the excited students surged to their feet, applauding tumultuously. It was the half. The cheerleaders pushed onto the floor, purple skirts swirling. As they had done many times before, they molded the enthusiasm of the crowd and directed its energy into a vigorous yell of pride and appreciation.

The crowd cheered in unison, scarcely realizing how much the dedicated loyalty, the boundless enthusiasm, and the effervescent energy of the cheerleaders had contributed to the skillful playing the team had done all season. Many times they rooted the ball players to victory. When the Panthers lost, these boys and girls, presented with an even greater challenge, just as loyally supported their team.

When commended, the cheerleaders proudly point to the fine school spirit displayed by the entire student body, who showed great loyalty and enthusiasm for their team not only at home but in games at other colleges. It was this vigorous school spirit, directed by a grand bunch of devoted cheerleaders, which played a major part in the excellent season the Panthers have enjoyed this year.

Coach Wayne Hoover Returns to Alma Mater

"For crying out loud! D'you call that a pass? . . . Now there are four main kinds of wounds . . . How about someone demonstrating to us the prone pressure method? Today we're going to learn a few fundamentals of golf. Their club is called a brassie. . . ."

Whether at basketball practice, in First Aid class, or in Golf Class, one would probably relate these words to Coach Wayne Hoover, a junior member of the High Point coaching staff. Coach Hoover is himself a graduate of High Point, and after receiving his M.A. from Peabody College, he returned to his Alma Mater as the Jayvee Coach and instructor in physical education. He has been an asset to our college during the two years he has served in this capacity.

Jayvees in Action

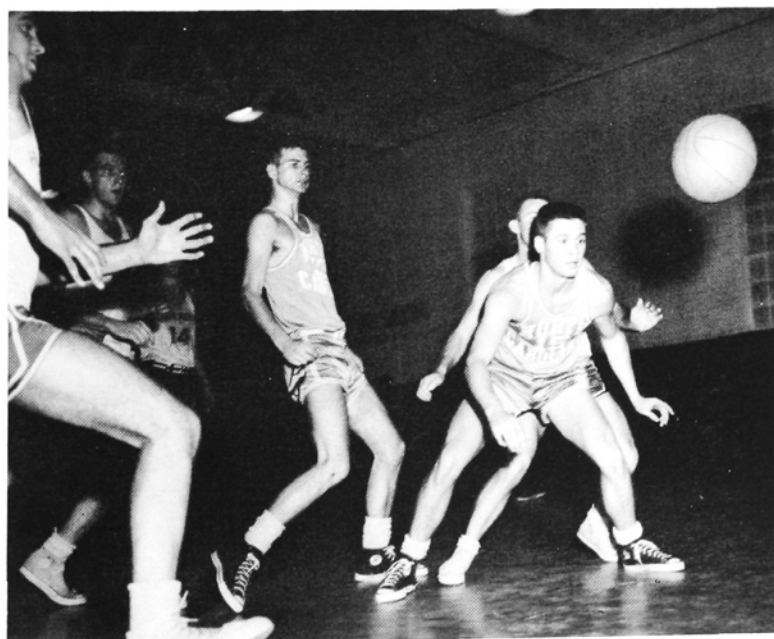

This year the Junior Varsity had a fine working offensive as well as defensive team. Their winning record does not tell the complete story of their accomplishments this season. The training program set up by Coach Hoover was very successful, and through his efforts many of the Jayvee players will be seen on the 1957-58 varsity team.

Larry Swiggett, the high scorer for the team, averaged approximately 30 points a game. Luke Livingston and Lee Ray Jolly were two very competent guards who contributed to the backcourt play and defense of the team. Jim Parish and Dick Wilson were the main players responsible for the rebounding action. In many of the games they controlled both boards while Willard Fomysduval and Cecil Stamey played important parts in the games. Danny Fussell and J. B. Roberson along with all the other players strived constantly to improve their skills and techniques in basketball. High Point College Jayvees have worked hard; they have gained some of the experience necessary for playing on the varsity team, and we felt that many '57 Jayvees will be seen on Coach Yow's team next year.

Women's Athletic Association Leads

It was all in a game of fun as we gathered for our first meeting of the Women's Athletic Association. New members had been added to our organization . . . officers to be elected . . . parties to be planned . . . and the athletic program to be outlined for the year. Skating parties in the spring . . . swimming at the Y . . . Playday at Guilford College . . . Ping Pong Tournament in Winston-Salem . . . another successful year in basketball . . . these were the main attractions for the girls of the W.A.A.

Barbara is still interested in her golf and swimming . . . Sara attempts to break her basketball record with 40 point average . . . Sherrill spends leisure hours playing tennis . . . "Mot" tries to improve her diving techniques . . . Gaynelle is missed by the team . . . Jo Ann recovers from minor injuries . . . Lillian, the basketball manager, works with the girls . . . and our alert coach, Hazel Phillips, adds to the activities by giving instructions in basketball to Anne Teague, Peggy Shook, Carolyn Hall, Dawn Smith, Avie Gunn, Anna Rogers, Loberta McNeill, Lou Murphy, Betty Mullis, Sylvia Deaton, and other girls who have joined us in our athletic activities.

Miss Nathalie Etheridge Heads W.A.A.

The Women's Athletic Association includes all athletic programs for the girls who are interested in sports. Special tribute goes to Miss Etheridge, a newcomer to the Physical Education Department, for her support in the W.A.A. program this year.

Officers this year have been: Pat Hester, President; Jo Ann Spell, Vice-President; Sara Owen, Secretary; Martha Ellington, Treasurer; Barbara Edwards, Representative to S.G.A.; Gaynelle Pennell, Intramural Manager.

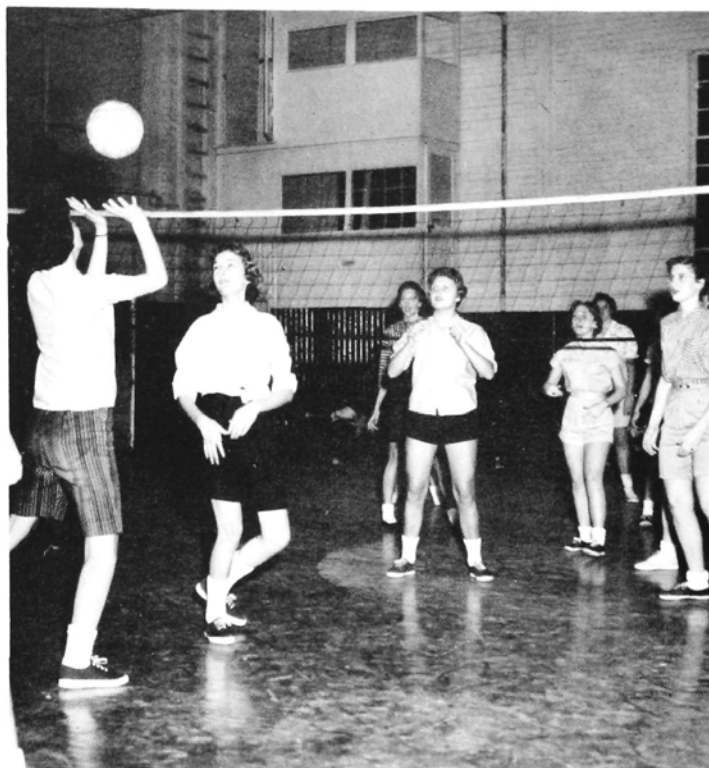

Girls' Intramural Program

Phi Mus—

Volleyball Champs

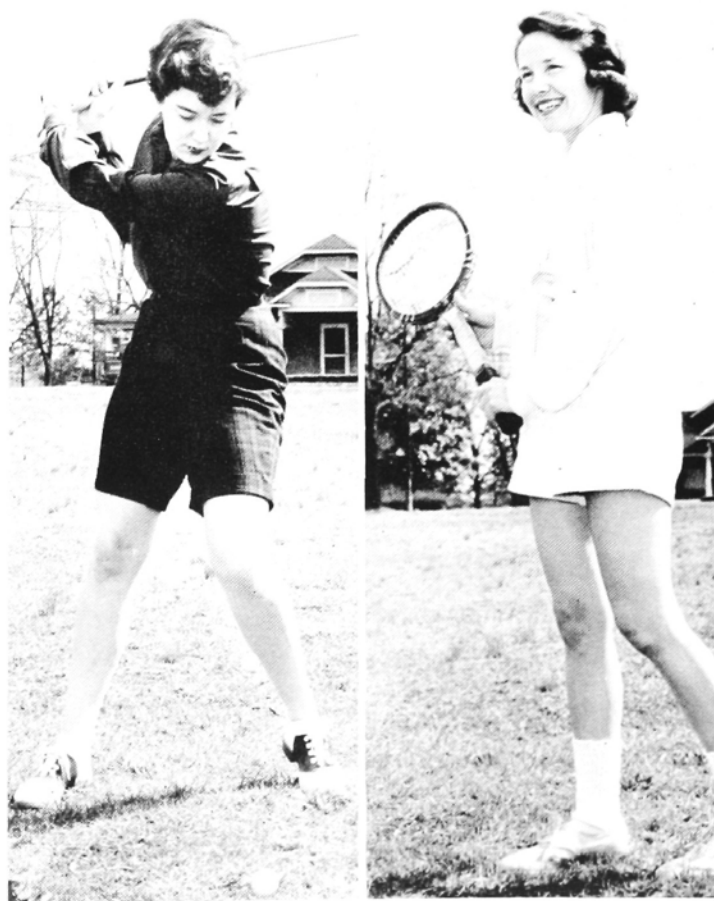

This was a successful season at High Point College for girl's intramural volleyball. Both the sororities and gym classes played with great enthusiasm. The Kappa Deltas and Alpha Gams entered one team each in the intramural program while the Phi Mus were represented by two groups. The gym classes were represented by four teams.

Tribute goes to the winning team, Phi Mu II, and to the runners-up, The 3 D's. Each group contributed qualities of sportsmanship and athletic ability throughout the season of volleyball. Miss Etheridge, the supervisor, and Harold Wright, the coach, are commended for their valuable contribution to the girls' intramural volleyball program.

Spring Sports

Barbara Edwards and Anne Sherrill, golf and tennis enthusiasts, welcome spring with high spirits as they anticipate a season for participation in their favorite sports. When March blows her way into H.P.C., many coeds begin sunbathing while the more energetic ones look forward to happy times in the open air—improving skills and trimming figures—days they have been preparing for thorough physical education classes all winter—basketball, tennis, golf, and softball.

Captain Bill Huegele Heads Tennis Team

The High Point College tennis team, North State Champions for the past seven out of eight years, is ready to defend its co-championship title as soon as tennis weather rolls around. The Panthers tied with Guilford College for the championship last year. Since the team has all of the men returning that played last year, it seems as though another bright season is ahead for High Point College.

Bill Huegele, who was runner up for the North State singles crown last year, will probably be back in the number one position for the tennis team. Kenny Tew and Ray Wicker, the number two and three men last season, will be back and are reported to be much improved over last season. Paul Stanton and Dale Swaringen, the other two lettermen, will round out the starting five. The coach this year will be Mr. Jack Kidd, who takes the place of Coach Jim Jones. Mr. Kidd has an excellent program worked out and hopes to improve the tennis program over last year.

An Easter trip to Florida, corresponding to last year's trip, is planned for the purpose of getting the boys into warm weather; this helps them to get into shape faster to play in the regular loop competition. As usual, all matches are played at the Sedgfield Country Club Courts.

The 1956 baseball season brings several sad memories to our minds. The High Point College nine suffered throughout the season from faulty fielding. Bolstered by the efforts of the four returning lettermen the High Point nine finished the regular season play with a record of five wins against seven losses. The pitching staff was centered around letterman Frank Miller, with considerable help from the experienced Jim Ward. The hard slugging of H.P.C. catcher, Bill Beasley, was the mainstay of the team's hitting power. Another asset of the 1956 squad was the long ball hitting of the versatile Harold Watson. The true value of the 1956 baseball season is not clearly seen in the scoring record. The baseball future of High Point College appears much brighter for the 1957 season.

Volleyball and Baseball

Edging out the Tekes in the final match, the Iota Phi Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity won the volleyball championship over seven other well organized teams. Paced by Captain Murphy Osborne, the team showed excellent spirit and form in posting their 7-0 record which recaptured the crown.

It was not until the third of a three game match with the Tekes that the Lambda Chi Fraternity could claim the victory. After taking the first game by a score of 21 to 19 the Teke fraternity bounced back with a convincing 21 to 8 win. In the final game, the Tekes lead by 12 to 2; but the Lambda Chis suddenly hit a play that could not be stopped; they then forged into the lead 15 to 14. From that point forward it was a matter of formality as the Lambda Chi Fraternity spirit and unusual play proved them the champions.

This year's intramural basketball season has produced some of the most evenly-matched teams ever to be assembled in the intramural program at High Point College. Eleven teams, seven of them representing fraternities, have entered the competition for winning the regular season crown. The competition will undoubtedly be keen, and the championship will probably not be decided until the final game. Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity offers one of the best teams in the circuit, and at mid-season they have produced an undefeated record. They are led by the scoring of Murphy Osborne and Ray Wicker and the rebounding power of Charles Watson. Pi Kappa Alphas threaten the number-one team as they have been defeated only once, and that being by the league-leading Lambda Chis. The Pikas are led by Joe Carrington, Martin Poyner, and Dale Swaringen. The Tau Kappa Epsilon team also has a fine team that is built up around Stan Stafford. Kappa Chi, Delta Sigma Phi, and Sigma Phi Epsilon have also proved themselves worthy competitors.

Closer co-operation among the sororities is the purpose of the Panhellenic Council. The council is composed of two members from each sorority who strive to make college life as congenial as possible. Although the organization was first established last year, it has resulted in closing any gaps of hostility which might have existed before and has served its purpose in instilling into the hearts of every sorority member the true spirit of sisterhood.

A successful rush week opened with a tea. Many new names and faces were viewed by the old members. Further plans were made by each sorority. Hurried notes and secret consultations were a part of the week rush program. Finally, the all important decision had been made and at the close of the week forty-eight girls had pledged to the four sororities.

Panhellenic Council

The tea held in the Student Center by the Panhellenic Council climaxed the informal question and answer period for the benefit of all new girls who were interested in joining a sorority. Pretty co-eds, attired in colorful party dresses, streamed into the Student Center and met eager "sisters" who tried to remember names and at the same time "plug" their particular sororities. Excitement was high, and the afternoon closed as sorority girls called special meetings to add new names to rush lists and potential rushees wearing white name tags embarked up the thrilling "party-going" week of rush.

Kappa Delta at Work and Play

The fall semester means rush and a lot of hard work, but after the bids are turned in everyone can sigh with relief as we welcome our new pledges. The traditional KD's in Hades party is one of the highlights during rush week, and great pride is taken to make it better each year. Sisters wear red in accordance with the theme, and a skit is given symbolizing the meaning of Kappa Delta.

All together yule-tide greetings are wished to everyone from the KD's. To help Santa spread good will and the Christmas spirit the sorority holds an annual party. The new pledges and sisters join together with their dates in semi-formal attire to dance and ring the bells of Christmas joy. Entertainment and decorations all go along to make the party a big success.

KD's soak up the sun every June to celebrate the closing of school and for seniors to have one last party with their fellow students. The sorority heads for Myrtle Beach for a week of sun, salty-water, and relaxation. The shut-eye is scarce, but the memories are treasured, and everyone has a good time. See you KD's at the beach again in '57!

Black jackets on campus, black and white ribbons on a pledge's sweater, and a white carnation in a sorority mug all symbolize to a Lambda girl loyalty and friendship—the ideals to which Lambda Alpha Phi is pledged. The Lambda Alpha Phi Sorority was organized on March 10, 1953, with the basic idea that friendship is the highest degree of perfection in society.

Pleasant memories linger in every sister's mind. . . . The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of the 6 national Greek letter social fraternities. The membership is made up of two representatives from each of the respective fraternities—one senior and one junior representative, with voting power invested in the senior representative. They serve for two years. The main purpose of the council is to govern and promote friendship among the various fraternities, and set up the rules and regulations for rushing members for the fraternities.

The main activities this year were revising the old constitution; laying plans for future fraternity lodges, with Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, President of H.P.C.,—a definite step toward accomplishment—and also sponsoring the blood-mobile campaign.

Interfraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council has taken over the responsibility of sponsoring the Annual Christmas Dance. This dance is open to the entire student body of High Point College and features an orchestra and vocalist. Since this is the only open dance of the first semester and comes before the Christmas Holidays it is an important highlight of the year.

In the spring the I.F.C. sponsors another dance which is enjoyed by the fraternity men and their dates only. This also features an orchestra and is a formal affair which is eagerly anticipated by all the men in fraternities.

Last Local Fraternity Goes National

THE HIGH POINT COLONY OF THE DELTA SIGMA PHI FRATERNITY

In September of 1956 the members of the N. D. M. Club voted unanimously to petition The Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity for membership in it's international fraternal organization. This step marked an important milestone in the growth of High Point College's only remaining local fraternity.

The N. D. M. Club was organized in the spring of 1939 as an athletic organization for the men of High Point College who were interested in athletics and in becoming a part of an everlasting fraternal brotherhood. Since that time the club has steadily grown, and in the fall of 1954 the first steps were made to become part of a national fraternity. Delta Sigma Phi seemed the choice of all the members, and during the spring and summer of 1956 we worked toward petitioning the international fraternity. Since becoming a colony, the efforts and interests of the men have been dedicated to our installation and chartering, which is to take place in the spring of the current school year.

Delta Sigma Phi, organized in 1899, is a fraternity of comradeship, social growth, and leadership. There are now over eighty-five chapters and twenty-two thousand members in the United States and Canada. We of the High Point College Chapter dedicate ourselves to the further growth of the International Fraternity, and to the interest of brotherhood and growth in our own group.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Founded 1899

Delta Kappa Chapter

Chartered 1954

Delta Kappa Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon was begun with a small but determined group of individuals on the campus here at High Point College. In the three years that we have been a chapter of a national fraternity we have become recognized as one of the leading organizations on this campus. This year saw the largest pledge class in the history of this chapter, and we are looking forward to an even bigger one next year. Constantly we strive to make our chapter an outstanding one and to promote better relations among all mankind. Fulfilling this obligation is our primary goal.

EPSILON ALPHA CHAPTER

For the year 1956-57, may we always cherish the memories of such events as . . . our first rush party at the Jamestown Legion Hut . . . the drag rush party at Thomasville Country Club . . . Collecting toys for our annual party for the underprivileged children . . . the stag parties at the coon club . . . plans for the Mason-Dixon Jubilee, Valentine Party, and the annual Dream Girl Ball.

Just for kicks we recall . . . Willie watching out for the dog . . . everyone reminding Pope of that certain girl . . . Brown's stapler missing . . . Parrish and the "gravel" . . . Goose being in bed all day because of his late date . . . Cannon wagging his tail . . . the hanger over Thad's bed . . . Lewallen's voting . . . Hassel tasting ears . . . Kirk and his muzzle . . . General Hartley's defeat at Wake Forest . . . Wee Wee putting a knot on someone's head . . . McCleod missing the thief . . . "Hey, Miss Shelly" . . . the many times those girls were pinned . . . conflict on the second floor.

The Zenith Presents

"Our Fair Ladies"

"I remembered what my speech teacher once told me and thought of them all sitting out there in their underwear," the lovely girl in a white formal confided hesitantly to the master of ceremonies in answer to his question, "What were you thinking while you were on the stage?" The audience applauded vigorously when Kathleen Henson, an attractive senior, who had delighted them with her rollicking pantomime of Teresa Brewer's recording of "Bell Bottom Blues," was crowned Miss High Point College of 1957.

She and nine other of High Point's most charming co-eds, who had been selected from the various classes and campus organizations, competed on the basis of beauty, talent, and personality. The theme of the program was taken from the Broadway play, "My Fair Lady." Members of the faculty and student body presented musical selections from the Broadway production, and background music was supplied by the campus dance band, the Sentimentalists.

The Miss High Point College contest is sponsored annually by the ZENITH Staff, this year under the supervision of Braxton Warner, who planned and directed the program with the capable assistance of Ruby Ragan, Jo Harrington, Peggy Morris, Elsie Oakley and Ronnie Everette.

Theme music from "My Fair Lady" was provided by "The Sentimentalists."

Just before the crowning, Mr. Cox and Charlie Holcombe presented a hilarious version of "With a Little Bit of Luck."

Smiling approval of the judges' choice, Mrs. Allen Burrus, retiring queen, congratulates the 1957 Miss High Point College.

MISS KATHLEEN HENSON
Miss High Point College 1957

Representing the Senior Class, Kathy transferred last year to High Point from Brevard College. She is a native of Pisgah Forest, North Carolina, and will begin teaching in the fall.

Mutual

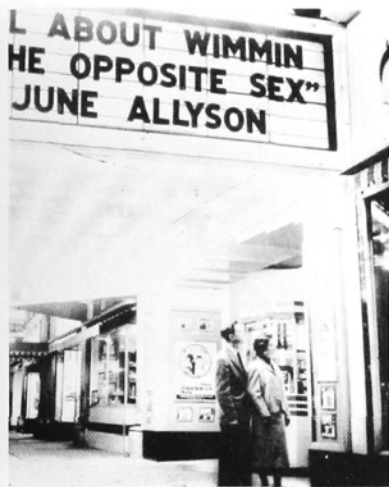

The town of High Point has played an ever-increasing role in the progress of High Point College. The doors of our college could not have been opened in 1924 had it not been for the financial support of the citizens of High Point. Today, as we watch the superstructure of our new gymnasium being forged, we can be re-assured that their financial support is continuing.

High Point has given our college much more than mere financial aid. Part-time employment, housing for our faculty and married students, recreation in the many public parks, the many places for varied amusements, and inspiring places of worship are just a few of the things made available to us by the city of High Point.

The student, as he becomes more familiar with the merchants and citizens, realizes that this is a friendly city. This pleasant atmosphere induces him to learn more about the city. He discovers that the town got its name because it was the highest spot along the survey from Goldsboro to Charlotte.

Admiration—the College and the City

Wandering around town on a lazy afternoon, the student can see that the town supports many industries. Foremost, however, are the furniture and hosiery industries. In the fourteen storied Southern Furniture Exposition Building, the Tomlinson Exhibition Building, the Merchandise Mart, and the Manufacturers Furniture Market, the student can admire modern and period furniture of exquisite craftsmanship.

No, High Point is not so large that it has become cold in its impersonal vastness. It remains a medium-sized town with a heart and adequate facilities for all our needs. All our wants are supplied by such stores as Belks, Tobias, Wrights, and many others. For a "night-out" the many fine restaurants afford a welcome change from our cafeteria. Modern hotel accommodations can be secured for our visiting parents at the Sheraton or one of the many modern motels.

Probably the most impressive aspect of High Point is the spiritual atmosphere that is so prevalent. The many churches of High Point offer all students a place of worship, whatever the individual religious preference may be.

Along with the thoughts of High Point College, the movies of the Center Theaters, the Hot Shoppe coffee, Steele's hot-dogs, walks along Montlieu Avenue, the bus rides, the church sermons, and the friendly citizens of High Point will remain forever in our memories.

Farewell to H.P.C.—1957...

And yet, we can never completely say good-bye to it all. Our happiness here will become sweeter as the years sharpen recollections of treasured experiences. Our sadness here will be remembered tenderly and with a smile. Memory will make our high points seem as only yesterday. The classroom lecture, the campus walk, the midnight bull session, the fraternity dance will vividly come alive as time preserves and makes more dear each pleasure. Our hearts will always swell with pride as

“Our mind’s eye sees the campus green,
Our mind’s ear hears a sound serene. . . .”

We hope that THE ZENITH will help you to keep alive this year, and that we will never say farewell to cherished memories of High Point College—1957.
